Hard over on her beam ends, the Victoria Tug Co.'s Spray lies where she slipped from blocks on the ways of Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd.'s Bay Street yard at 11.15 this morning. Thomas Moffett, V.M.D. engineer, said a diver would be sent down to inspect the point where the block had kicked out. He thought the tug could be shored up and pulled back on the ways for the overhaul, which was prevented by the accident.

Anti-Red Koreans Stage Revolt; 6,000 Lose Lives

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Home Minister T. Y. Yoon of the South Korean Republic today reported that mass uprisings in Russian-controlled northern Korea have cost upwards of 6,000 lives in the past few days.

A spokesman for the United States army in South Korea said no confirmation of Yoon's sensational statement, made to newspapermen, had been received at headquarters.

IN EIGHT CITIES

Yoon said he believed the attempted revolt was staged in eight northern cities, including Pyongyang, capital of North Korea. His information, he said, was that the revolt had been put down.

However, another cabinet officer who declined to be quoted by name said he had information the fighting was continuing and that an estimated 150,000 men were involved.

Yoon said his informants pictured the rebellion against the Communist regime as one of desperation.

The Home Minister declared 6,000 anti-Communists were slain a week ago at Hamhung and Wonsan, ports northeast of Seoul.

HUNGRY AND COLD

North Koreans, Yoon said, were hungry and cold. They marched on well-armed Korean Communists with only sticks for weapons, he said.

Meanwhile, the South Korean National Assembly today adopted a resolution demanding that President Syngman Rhee reorganize his cabinet and assume responsibility for the October army uprisings in South Korea.

Israel, Egypt Engage In Direct Peace Talk

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Sources close to the Israeli Foreign Office said peace talks are under way between the Egyptian and Israeli governments.

(A member of Egypt's delegation to the United Nations in Paris denied the report, while Israeli informants in Paris would neither confirm nor deny it.)

The Jewish source said the conversations have been in progress for several days, either in Paris or Geneva.

They said Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok was en route to Paris and had undertaken the trip more because of the peace talks than because of scheduled U.N. Security Council and political committee sessions on the Holy Land.

A peace between Israel and Egypt would involve only southern Palestine. A Jewish offensive last month pushed the Egyptians back in the Negev Desert and Jewish forces still surround several thousand Egyptian troops in isolated pockets. The U.N. Security Council is trying to get the Jews to withdraw to positions occupied before the offensive.

(A Cairo newspaper Sunday reported King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan had suggested a separate peace between his country and Palestine, but Trans-Jordan officials in Cairo denied that report.)

(Brig.-Gen. William E. Riley, chief of the U.N. truce mission in Palestine, was reported to have told Arab representatives in Paris their military positions in the Holy Land were hopeless and that their governments had better make peace with the Jews.)

B.C.E. Workman Badly Burned By 2,300-Volt Line

Albert S. Bevan, 1031 Wollaston Street, was severely burned on the wrist and shoulder when he came in contact with a 2,300-volt power line while working at the B.C. Electric's Bay Street substation just before noon today.

At St. Joseph's Hospital, where he is being attended by Dr. J. E. Dalton, it was reported his burns were severe but not considered critical. He also received superficial burns about the face.

According to a report from B.C. Electric officials, Bevan was working with a crew on a frame-work in the basement of the substation at the time of the accident. Immediate details as to how he came in contact with the 2,300-volt line were not immediately available, but it is understood the line touched his wrist.

The accident caused a brief interruption of service to a portion of the Fairfield district.

Working with him were Gordon Rowan, Philip Crumpton and Gilbert Barber, the latter accompanying him to hospital in a C. & C. ambulance. Bevan did not lose consciousness after the accident and was able to speak with medical attendants in the emergency room at the hospital.

PARIS (AP)—A reliable informant said tonight the United Nations' Security Council will consider at a private meeting tomorrow morning a plan to replace the shaky truce in Palestine with an armistice.

The closed session, one of two council meetings in Palestine tomorrow, was called at the request of Dr. Ralph Bunche, the acting Palestine mediator, and the informant said Bunche intends to present a plan for the next steps in the Holy Land.

Little Hope Held For Plane Survivors

SAIGON, Indo-China (Reuter)—Little hope was held here today of finding survivors from the Paris-Saigon DC-3 plane which disappeared about 60 miles from Phnom-Penh, capital of Cambodia, last Tuesday. Official sources here denied a report that the plane had been found and that the passengers were being kept alive by parachuted food parcels.

Aid To Greek Reds By 3 Balkan Lands Hit By Vote Of U.N.

PARIS (AP)—The United Nations' Political Committee voted today to condemn Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia for helping the Communist rebels in Greece.

It was the strongest action thus far taken by any United Nations Assembly body in the Balkans dispute.

By a vote of 47 to 0, the committee approved a paragraph in a four-power resolution declaring that continued aid given by the three Slav countries to the Greek guerrillas endangers peace in the Balkans and is inconsistent with the principles of the United Nations charter.

The vote followed hours of wrangling, during the Slav bloc fought to stall the proceedings and drew repeated tongue lashings from the committee chairman, Paul Henri Spaak of Belgium.

The six Slav states refused to vote on the condemnation paragraph. They served notice they would vote against the whole resolution when it comes up, perhaps later today. The veto does not apply.

Overnight, the Greek government had responded to a plea from the president of the As-

Wants City Voters To Make Decision On Lone Arena Bid

Ald. Waldo Skillings wants the ratepayers to advise the City Council by vote whether a local contracting company's offer to complete construction of the Memorial Arena for $195,780 should be accepted.

The question is on the agenda for today's regular meeting of the City Council.

The contracting firm of F. A. Robinson and E. H. Luney submitted the only acceptable tender for completing the rink to the City Council last week. A second bid was thrown out because it was not accompanied by a cheque for 10 per cent of the price quoted.

Aldermen have been discussing the $195,780 offer since but no decision has been reached.

Ald. Skillings plans on suggesting to the council that the matter be placed before the ratepayers in the form of a plebiscite. If the ratepayers voted in favor of accepting the offer, a by-law to raise the money would be required. Some aldermen think the plebiscite plan is unnecessary, that a by-law alone would serve the purpose.

Bride Loses Nose; Surgery Restores It

NEWHALL, Calif. (AP)—The bride who lost her nose in a honeymoon traffic accident was recovering today.

Mrs. Flora Lee Griffin, 25, and her husband, Edward, were returning from their honeymoon Saturday when their auto went over an embankment. Mrs. Griffin's nose was completely cut off as the impact hurled her through the windshield.

She was taken to a hospital. A physician sent police back to search for her missing appendage. They found it on the car's running board.

It was rushed back to hospital in a surgical bag and Dr. E. C. Innis sewed it back on. "Looks pretty good," he commented today.

Cargo Of Nitrate Scares Waterfront

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec harbor officials said today transfer of the cargo of the freighter Ines Corrado, whose presence at Cap Blanc has alarmed waterfront residents, awaits the arrival of another ship from Montreal.

In the meantime the Portuguese freighter, which must make the transfer because it was damaged in a St. Lawrence River collision, remains tied up at Walley's Cove docks in front of the little Cap Blanc settlement.

Reason for the distress among the households along narrow Champlain Street is that the 3,000-ton freighter is laden with nitrate of potassium, a chemical used chiefly for fertilizer.

Business Chaos As Wholesalers Close Up Shops

SHANGHAI (Reuter)—Near panic reigned among Shanghai's 5,000,000 Chinese population today when rice was virtually unobtainable even at the fantastic price of 900 gold yuan ($225) for a picul of 170 pounds.

This is an increase of 400 gold yuan within 24 hours and 40 times the frozen ceiling quotation of 23 gold yuan only a week ago.

(Meanwhile, most foreign consuls in Shanghai are awaiting replies from their governments to cables asking whether they should follow the U.S. action and advise their nationals to leave the city.)

Britons in Shanghai will be moved to Hongkong should evacuation be necessary. The government of the Crown Colony is preparing to requisition shipping needed for the purpose, it was learned from unofficial sources.)

Increases in the prices of all other commodities, ranging from industrial raw materials to matches were also recorded.

The average laborer's pay is between 100 and 150 gold yuan monthly. Although small firms have already granted "bonuses"—under present regulations no wage increases are permitted—of between 200 and 300 per cent to their employees, wages are generally still lagging several hundred per cent behind prices.

RUSHES WITNESSED

Buying rushes, which were blamed at one time on price control measures, have reappeared. Most stores safeguard themselves by putting up shutters as soon as they consider they have sold enough for the day.

Even wholesale business has come to a complete standstill with merchants reluctant to sell in view of the changing prices.

Scramble For Leadership Of G.O.P. Appears In Making

WASHINGTON (AP)—A scramble for the Republican Party leadership, with Harold E. Stassen among those taking part, apparently is in the making as an aftermath of last Tuesday's election.

Despite an assertion by Governor Thomas E. Dewey that he has no plans to step down as titular head of the party, his second straight defeat for the United States Presidency may leave him little to say about future Republican policies.

SUCH FAMILIAR FIGURES AS

Such familiar figures as Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Senator Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska, Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and House Floor Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana will do the shaping.

But none of these is a stand-out now for the Republican Presidential nomination in distant 1952.

Instead, some of the Republican politicians who have caught their wind after the surprise drubbing given them by the Democrats are beginning to look outside the formal Congressional leadership.

SALTONSTALL IN RUNNING

Those catching their eye include men like Stassen, Senators Irving M. Ives of New York, William Knowland of California, Raymond Baldwin of Connecticut, Leverett Saltonstall and Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts and Homer Ferguson of Michigan.

Governors who might be regarded as available for one of the top spots on the ticket four years hence include Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey, Ernest W. Gibson of Vermont, Luther W. Youngdahl of Minnesota and Frank Carlson of Kansas.

While most of the new crop of Republican hopefuls hold a public office, Stassen has perhaps as good a forum as any of them in his presidency of the University of Pennsylvania.

De Gaulle Party Gains In Polling; Communists Lose

PARIS (AP)—Almost complete returns today gave Gen. Charles de Gaulle's anti-Communist Rassemblement du Peuple Français (R.P.F.), a sweeping victory in Sunday's elections to the upper house of the French Parliament.

The Communist, present majority party in the Council of the Republic, lost more than four-fifths of their seats and will be a low-ranking party in the new council.

The elections were national in scope, but the balloting was done by local electoral colleges instead of directly by the people.

TAKE 40 PER CENT

The returns showed that the R.P.F., taking part in a legislative election for the first time, will have about 40 per cent of the 269 seats at stake Sunday. The colonies will elect another 51 members next month, bringing the new council to its full strength of 320.

With only seven seats missing, interior ministry figures said this was the division of the council seats.

R.P.F. 99, Radical Socialists (Conservatives) 48, Independents 50, Socialists 48, Communists 21, Communists 16, Popular Republicans (M.R.P.) 15, others 13. The Communists now hold 84 seats. Their drop to 16 occurred largely because of a change in the voting system that permitted all non-Communist parties to form coalitions against them.

De Gaulle's group fell far short of gaining a majority of seats in the council of the Republic, which is an advisory body to the National Assembly with no powers of direct action.

The smashing victory may prompt De Gaulle to hasten his campaign for return to power.

De Gaulle wants the assembly to dissolve itself and call for general elections which, he claims, will give him a mandate from the people to take over the government.

Three Ships Struck By Seamen's Union

MONTREAL (CP)—A group of 150 members of the Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.) today tied up three ocean-going ships here over a contract dispute.

The ships are the Mont Sandra, Mont Alta and March-cape, owned by Montreal Shipping Co. They were due to sail within the next day or two.

The seamen said they had been unable to get assurance that their pay of $170 a month would be maintained during the voyage should the current contract between the union and the Shipping Federation be ended.

The contract, which was to have terminated Oct. 15, was extended indefinitely while a dispute over contract terms undergoes conciliation.

Man Walks Mile After Losing Arm

BORING, Ore. (AP)—A lumber mill worker had his arm cut off at the shoulder Sunday and then walked more than a mile to get an ambulance to Portland. Police said Henry Francis Meeker, 62, was given a "fair" chance of recovering at a Portland hospital. He was cleaning a planer at a mill near here when his right garment sleeve tangled in the machine and pulled his arm into the cutter. He was alone.

Research Council Physicist Spends Time Studying Snow

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has at least one snowman who never melts, and he's been under exposure for 14 years.

His name is George J. Klein and he is a small and pleasant man. A physicist with the National Research Council, he started in 1934 when the R.C.A.F. asked the council to find the best type of ski for aircraft. Mr. Klein and his aides eventually concluded they had first to have a fundamental knowledge of snow.

LIKES HIS WORK

From scratch, he's been working on snow and problems arising from its presence ever since. At 44, he's as enthusiastic about his job as ever and is looked upon as the Canadian expert on the subject at a time when Canada is studying her winter problems as never before.

He'll tell you, though, that the country has a long way to go before it really understands the infinite caprices of its character. Being a snowman has meant exposure to winter's meanest efforts in open fields year in, year out, but Mr. Klein says he can still look upon the aesthetic side of the season, that he has never come down with a serious illness—he wears the airmen's clothes—from it, that he has no very strong opinions about the merits or demerits of cold weather.

He still likes to ski and his six-year-old son George has been on skis since the age of three. Some of his best leads in the study of snow came from talks with other scientists on week-end skiing jaunts.

He builds snowmen for his two children in his front yard and on a trip to the winter experimental base at Churchill, Man., he took a busman's holiday and learned how to build an igloo.

During the war when he was helping the U.S. and Canadian efforts to find a suitable over-snow vehicle, he insisted so long and so strenuously that rubber was the answer to track surface problems that the vice-president of a huge U.S. automobile firm dubbed him "rubber brains."

But Canada's snowman proved right in the end.

Lady Emily Walker, Sister Of Peer, Dies At Home

Lady Emily Mary Walker, 75, sister of the present Marquis of Hertford and founder of the Farmers' Institute in East Sooke in 1921, died of a heart attack at her home Saturday, only a few hours after she had assisted in the poppy-selling campaign in the morning.

She had helped fill trays in poppy headquarters all morning and said she intended to return in the afternoon.

Lady Emily came to the district from England in 1912, with her husband, the late Rev. R. E. Walker, second son of Sir James Walker of Sand Hutton. She held the secretaryship of the Farmers' Institute since she founded the group. She was active in women's activities throughout Greater Victoria for many years.

She was an honorary life vice-president of the Naval Veterans of Victoria and a member of the Church of England. Last spring she flew to England for the wedding of her niece, Lady Margaret Seymour, lady-in-waiting to H.R.H. Princess Elizabeth, and returned to Victoria last month.

McCall Bros. Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements. The cortege will leave the Floral Funeral Chapel at 1:45 Tuesday afternoon, for services at St. Mary's Church, Metchoin at 2:30. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Surviving are a son, Rupert Alexander Walker of Nanaimo; a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Edith Derbyshire, East Sooke; two sisters in England and two grandchildren.

Cabin Occupant Burned To Death In Sunday Fire

Saanich police today reported that the man burned to death in the fire which demolished the cabin at 745 Roderick Street early Sunday morning, was the occupant, Alexander Lanchick, 71.

An inquest will be held this week. Fire Chief Joseph Law of Saanich said there is no positive indication how the fire started. There is a possibility a smashed oil lamp was the cause.

When firemen arrived the structure was totally enveloped in flames. The body of Lanchick was recovered lying by the stove in the smoldering ruins.

Lanchick was born in Russia and came to Canada in 1909. He served with the Canadian Expeditionary Force in World War I and was discharged in Canada in 1919, according to Constable Walter Mycock, who attended with Sgt. Eric Elwell and Constable Ed Anderson.

He is survived by kin in Victoria, including a son, George Lanchick, 749 Roderick.

College Students Rib Opponents With 'Funeral Parade'

Citizens who saw on Saturday afternoon what appeared to be a funeral procession of about 25 cars draped with black bunting and with the words "In mourning for J.B.A.A." written on the sides of the automobiles may be wondering whether or not the recently-announced revival of the athletic organization had fallen through.

But it was only the students of Victoria College wending their way to Macdonald Park to cheer their rugby team in a game with the Bays.

The "funeral" procession, in contrast to the colorful and noisy pre-game parades of past years, was the result of a bit of student ingenuity when the police refused to grant permission for a horn-toting parade through the city.

The funeral dirge likely did carry into the J.B.A.A. dressing room after the game—Victoria College squeezed out a 3 to 0 victory.

Seek Missing Youth

ERRINGTON—An Errington boy, Johnny Richmond, 13½, missing from his home since 9 Wednesday night, is being sought by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Richmond and B.C. Provincial Police.

The boy is described as having dark eyes, brown hair a thin, pale face and about five feet three inches tall. He was wearing a cowboy hat, dark shirt, brown cord pants and carried other clothing in a small, black suitcase. He was riding a maroon bicycle with cream trim.

Supreme Court Margarine Decision Within 10 Days

OTTAWA (CP)—Within the next 10 days, the Supreme Court of Canada is expected to bring down its decision on the validity of the 62-year-old ban on the manufacture, sale and importation of margarine.

It now is a month since the court heard argument on the constitutionality of the prohibition, which keeps the butter substitute from Canadian dinner tables.

The margarine issue was referred to the court by the federal government at the request of the Senate. The Senate, which several times has rejected legislation aimed at legalizing the substitute, adopted a resolution at the last parliamentary session calling for a Supreme Court reference.

In the three-day hearing, legal representatives of the Dominion, the Province of Quebec, the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, the Canadian Consumers' Association and other groups appeared before the seven-man bench and argued the case.

The Dominion took the traditional line that the legislation was within the competence of parliament, which adopted it more than a half-century ago on the grounds margarine was "injurious" to health. It was supported by the Federation of Agriculture.

The Province of Quebec and the consumers held that margarine actually was a legitimate article of trade and as such came under the jurisdiction of the provinces. Further, it contended that present-day medical opinion is that margarine is equal to butter as a source of energy and, though it might once have been injurious, it no longer is unwholesome.

The harbor commissioners dispute the company's claim that it owns the property and contends that it is Crown domain.

Victorians Pass Pharmacy Exams

Bruce C. Turnbull, Vancouver, headed the list of successful students in the fall examinations of the Pharmaceutical Association of B.C., according to an announcement by Arthur F. McDuffee, registrar.

Mr. Turnbull is a graduate in pharmacy from Saskatchewan. R. J. Dick, now with Cumberland Drugs Ltd., Cumberland was fourth.

Two Victorians were named among a group of nine students who were successful in writing supplementary examinations.

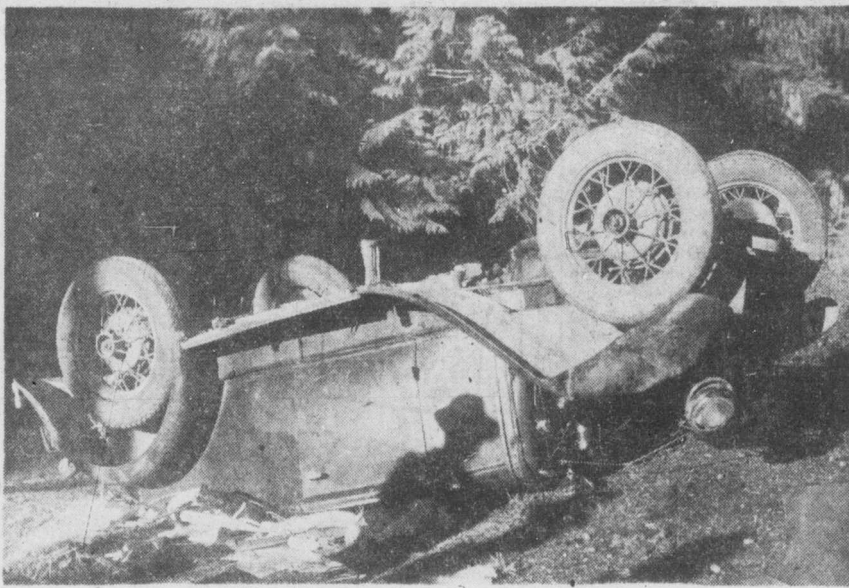

They were Miss Doris E. Fuls, Royal Jubilee Hospital, and L. M. Shore, Darling's Pharmacy. Following announcement of examination results, the board of examiners approved the registration in B.C. of sixteen graduates from other provinces and considered applications from 72 students who are now securing their practical experience for one year in drug stores throughout B.C. prior to attending the College of Pharmacy at the University of B.C.

'Red Dean' Called Foolish Old Man

SUDBURY (CP)—Wladimir Kossar of Winnipeg, president of the National Ukrainian Federation, said in an address here Sunday that Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury, was a "foolish old man" who had been tricked by Soviet Russia into spreading Communist propaganda.

Mr. Kossar said: "I cannot believe that an Englishman would undertake such a dirty job on behalf of a nation which is sworn to overthrow the British Empire and all it stands for."

2 In Hospital From This Crackup

Car winds up overturned after 143-foot wild run off highway.

Two Ladysmith men, Fern R. Lecompte and Andrew Renton, are in Jubilee Hospital today recovering from injuries suffered when the car they were in went off the Island Highway at Langford for 143 feet early Sunday morning and concluded its wild run by turning upside down.

This was one of several accidents on the Victoria and district highways during the week-end which sent several persons to hospital and caused extensive damage to cars. No persons are believed to be dangerously injured.

Constable Jack Lockie of the B.C. Police highway, reporting on the Langford accident said that old-model soft-top car was proceeding toward town at the hill and curve on the other side of the Langford village when the accident occurred.

Renton suffered the most serious hurts, multiple lacerations and bruises. He was pinned to the ground under the overturned machine. The officer said several trucks pulled the car off Renton.

Police said Lecompte was the driver.

Radioactive U.S. Ship To Be Sunk

SEATTLE (AP)—The radioactive heavy cruiser Pensacola will be asleep in the deep by the end of the week off the western Washington shore.

The navy announced the atom-spattered war hero will be sunk by guns and bombs of the first task fleet and its air arm.

The Pensacola survived Bikini atom bomb tests after heavy action at Iwo Jima, where a Kamikaze hit her, and at Okinawa. The coup de grace is set for Wednesday.

Killed In Accident

B.C. Police headquarters today reported George Edwards, 640 Leslie Avenue, Port Alberni, was killed Sunday when his rifle was accidentally discharged while he was hunting near Spirit Lake.

The brief message received here gave no details of the mishap other than that Edwards, who was married, was hunting with James Olsen and Harold Cornell.

An autopsy is being conducted today so that the coroner may decide whether or not an inquest is necessary.

Two Injured In Three Accidents In City Sunday

Dr. E. C. Hoodless, 822 Island Road, and Don Kendall, 2016 Forbes Street, are another pair of Victorians taken to hospital for injuries sustained in highway accidents during the week-end.

Dr. Hoodless' car early Sunday morning was in collision with a power pole on Foul Bay Road south of Granite Street. The pole was broken off by the impact and the car was badly damaged.

At 1:50 Sunday afternoon, police said that cars driven by Colin G. Corbett, 1165 Newport Avenue, and H. C. Tutt, R.R. 1, Highland Creek, Ont., met in collision at Quadra and Fort Streets. Kendall, a passenger in the Ontario car, was taken to Jubilee Hospital with an injured nose.

Police said the Corbett car was badly damaged on the left side. She has a wee son who is a year old the day she lost her wallet," the mother wrote. "If you know anything about what the navy pay is and present day prices

Sailor's Wife Loses Wallet, $85

"Maybe after you read this you'll think I'm crazy, but I'll at least have the satisfaction of knowing I tried . . ."

The distraught mother who penned that opening line in the letter told her story for the sake of her daughter, a sailor's wife, who left a wallet containing $85 in Kresge's store, Victoria, Oct. 31. The wallet was gone when she returned five minutes later and advertisements and radio appeals have met with no response.

The mother, who lives in Moose Jaw and is "in no financial position to help out," wrote outlining details of the case, in the desperate hope that whoever found the wallet would "relent and return it to my daughter."

"My daughter's husband is in the navy and away right now and she is alone thousands of miles from home and loved ones. She has a wee son who is a year old the day she lost her wallet," the mother wrote. "If you know anything about what the navy pay is and present day prices

Victoria Observer Praises Success Of Pearl Harbor Cruise

Praise for the success of the joint R.C.N. - U.S. Navy training exercises out of Pearl Harbor and the conduct of the Canadian sailors during the visit here, is given by R. H. B. Ker in a letter written to this city from H.M.C.S. Ontario, which will arrive back at her Esquimalt base Nov. 13.

"I have observed everything at pretty close quarters and the co-operation of the U.S. Navy and other services from the top down has been wonderful," Mr. Ker writes.

"The value of all this to our people is beyond measure. Ships, submarines, aircraft, as well as all highly technical equipment ashore, have been made freely available, and our lads have had experience and learning unobtainable to them at home.

"The average free time for relaxation has been reasonable only, but not much, considering the attractions here.

MORE CRUISES FOR EFFICIENCY

"If we are to have an efficient force, I hope this visit will be an annual, or at least a fairly frequent event."

Mr. Ker also wrote that Capt. J. C. Hibbard, commander of the Canadian training fleet, "has done a magnificent job in relations with all concerned. The top admirals and generals here were his friends from the first meeting, and that has meant everything."

"Our sailors have conducted themselves admirably, and the welcome and hospitality shown to them has been great."

With Ontario on the cruise are the destroyers Cayuga, Crescent and Athabaskan and the frigate Antigonish.

Health Officer Named

The provincial government by order-in-council has appointed Dr. James Munson, Powell River, as medical health officer for Powell River and district, to succeed Dr. O. O. Lyons, who is leaving the district.

are, mabe you'll understand just what this loss means to her."

The mother asked that should the person who discovered the wallet have destroyed the address inside, the wallet could be sent to the Victoria Daily Times and forwarded to her daughter.

New Candidates For City Council; Seven Definite For Five Seats

Another name appeared today in the list of candidates for aldermanic seats in the civic elections Dec. 9 and it as learned there are four other "possible starters" in the City Council race.

The new candidate is Thomas A. "Scotty" Cresswell, 2564 Graham Street, who said he is going to "throw my hat into the ring."

"I thought I'd had enough," said Mr. Cresswell, who was defeated at the polls last year, "but this arena muddle is too much and a lot of people have been after me to run. I may not get very far but I'll have a lot to say about the rink before I'm through."

Three of the four possible candidates ran for seats on the City Council last year and were beaten. They are Harold E. Ker, 1744 Duchess Street, an electrician; Robert F. Williams, 112 Finlayson Street, a telephone switchman, and Burgess J. Gadsden, former alderman of 10 years.

Mr. Gadsden, a member of the police commission, said last week he would not be a candidate for either the council or the police commission this year, but today said:

"I have not determined what course I will follow."

The fourth possible candidate is James Foyer, 2826 Scott Street, purchasing agent, who was defeated last year as a candidate for a seat on the police commission.

"I may run for the commission again this year, and it may be for the City Council," he said.

SEEK RE-ELECTION

Four of five aldermen whose terms of office expire this year, have announced they will seek re-election. They are Aldermen J. D. Hunter, Frank Mulliner, Harold M. Diggon and Duncan McTavish.

The fifth, Ald. F. N. Cabeldu, is not allowing his name to go on the slate because of pressure of business.

There are two other sure candidates, John Baxter, retired mayor's secretary, and George Okell, retired city assessor-collector.

To date there are seven men who have announced definitely they will run for office.

Four unsuccessful aldermanic candidates last year said today they will not seek election this year.

Mrs. Sally Roger, 42 South Turner Street, said: "No, I'm not going to try this year."

F. A. Willis, 426 Michigan Street, retired city superintendent of works, said: "Once beaten, twice shy. I don't think I'll run."

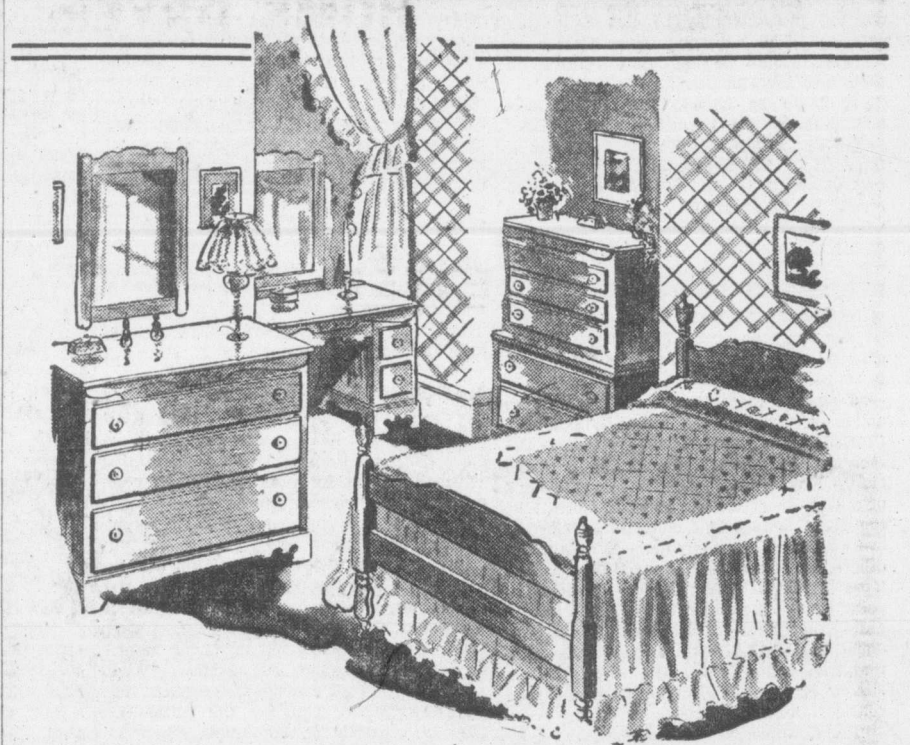

Alexander Macdonald, 3111 Fifth Street, retired city superintendent of works, said: "I have no intention of running, none whatsoever."

Another unsuccessful aldermanic candidate last year, William H. Williams, 822 Catherine Street, said he will seek election to the school board.

CONTRIBUTORY PENSIONS SEVERAL YEARS AGO WALT DISNEY

reminded the moving-picture-going public of a moral which some of our citizens seem prone to ignore. In "The Ant and the Grasshopper" he reaffirmed the lesson of the improvident, and underscored the sorry straits of those who fall, during the period of their highest earning capacity, to make provision for later years.

The analogy may not apply directly to the human counterparts of the insects in the old fable. It is not easy in our complex world to meet all our obligations and still make provision for the sunset of life. The average man, preoccupied with the task of providing a decent living for himself and his family—in educating his children and in enjoying a reasonable proportion of the amenities of 20th century life—finds it difficult to budget his net pay cheque in a way to cushion the economic shocks of old age, when employment capacities are reduced.

We recall the old story of the ant and the grasshopper at this time as we note the remarks of Premier Byron Johnson in Vancouver last week. Speaking to the Canadian Weekly Newspapers' Association, the first minister of the Crown briefly outlined his championship of a compulsory contributory superannuation scheme. His theme was one which should command the interest and approval of all who work for a living in this province. British Columbia does not begrudge the pension which is given to those of a specific age who lack private means of subsistence. Those who have borne the heat and burden of the day in the development of this part of Canada are entitled to what they receive. It is the belief of most of our people that they should receive more. Unfortunately, however, there are limits to calls on the exchequer and there are limits to the ability of taxpayers to meet the requirements of those who are entitled to pensions.

The proposal which Premier Johnson has advanced suggests a means by which a far greater measure of security may be extended to our older people. Through contributions during that period of life when our citizens are able to earn, a substantial fund could be created. When they have reached an age at which their productive capacities are at an end, or seriously restricted, they would have the right to reclaim their contributions, coupled with those additions which the province or Dominion might be in a position to make. The returns they receive would, in no sense, constitute charity—not that existing pensions may be classed in that category. The superannuation allowances, however, would be legitimate returns on their own investments.

It is to be hoped that the remarks addressed by the Premier to the weekly newspaper group indicate the policy to be followed by the Legislature. The move is one to create a higher sense of security among the preponderant group of our people who depend on their labors for their full enjoyment of life.

REGIMENTED THOUGHT

ALTHOUGH THE NEW YORK TIMES used up more than two columns of editorial space to explain why it felt obliged to support the candidacy of Governor Dewey—as against more than three columns to announce its preference for Mr. Wilkie over President Roosevelt in 1940—and despite the fact that its news pages for three weeks before Nov. 2 had exuded prognostications of a Truman defeat, it should be noted that the great newspaper's editorial on election eve was much more circumspect than many others. To be sure, it contended that "on the most important choice . . . the indications point toward Governor Dewey," but it suggested that "there remain some elements in doubt," which led to it further intimation that, "assuming he will win," the "probable size of Mr. Dewey's majority" would pose considerations of much significance.

For example, be it noted, the great daily pointed out on Oct. 31 that even though the personnel responsible for the continuance of Washington's foreign policy "may be changed next January, and new personalities may place a different emphasis on certain details . . . our friends abroad, as well as our critics, may know today as well as they will know on Wednesday morning where the United States stands and where it means to go . . . the election will be a majestic act of ratification." But more important than the editorial concept of what the voters of Canada's great and friendly neighbor might do or not do, of course, is the categorical statement of the New York Times that the election of last Tuesday was "more than a contest between two parties or two leading candidates" . . . because it was "an act of democratic faith."

Already in these columns we have referred to the "red faces" of the "pollsters"—commentators, "experts," and those organizations which have set themselves up as "scientific" samplers of public opinion—and the more we think of the opinion-gathering system the more we dislike it. We dislike it for the plain reason that our people should be doing their own thinking, that thought under aegis of commercialized regimentation is antipathetic to the basic concept of democracy and, as such, should be discouraged. The lesson of last Tuesday's elections in the United States should be clear for all to understand. It is that the common people can do their own thinking without the assistance of pundits and "pollsters."

FOR BETTER TEACHING

WHILE THE REGULAR PROCESSES OF school education remain flexible—and they would lose much if they settled into a too stereotyped form—workshop conferences among teachers promise one of the most effective methods of improving techniques and of expanding the scope of instruction. For that reason the sectional meetings of the second Vancouver Island Teachers' Convention, opening here on Thursday, will be among the most valuable features of the gathering which will bring between 750 and 800 men and women from the schools of the island to the capital.

At these section meetings recognized experts will lead discussions, suggest ideas and introduce new trends to those whose responsibilities rest in giving our children the best academic education this province can furnish. Many will profit from the interchange of views. Many minor perplexities will be eliminated for teachers whose understanding of new curricular additions has not been clear.

Much of the program, of course, will be of purely technical interest to those in the profession. On the other hand, the public meeting at which Dr. Franklin R. Zeran, of Oregon State College, will speak, should enjoy wider appeal. What should be appreciated by the public at large, however, is the fact that the teachers of this island are coming in such numbers to a convention for the prime purpose of increasing their abilities to do the vital job to which they are dedicated—the expansion of the mental horizons of the young people who will shortly be the mature citizens of this country.

CRITICAL POINT

CHINESE GOVERNMENT CLAIMS OF having made late gains against the Communists in the northern battle area have not carried sufficient reassurance to halt British and American preparations to evacuate their nationals in the event of further advances by the rebel forces. The fall of Mukden and the surrounding countryside with the loss or dispersal of thousands of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's troops have dealt a heavy blow to the official regime. It is suggested that there is little to stop the southerly progress of the Communists. With this in mind, the Hongkong government is preparing to move Britons to safety from Shanghai if this should become necessary, while the United States has already begun the task of evacuating about 1,000 American dependents from Nanking, Shanghai, Tientsin and Peking. It is feared that an outbreak of fighting in these major cities might cut off escape.

Even if the government can hold off the Communist forces, there appears little likelihood of a Nationalist victory in the foreseeable future. Nanking reports, in fact, are hinting that Chiang's administration may seek a negotiated peace, with the Generalissimo absconding himself from the country for the time being. This suggestion, of course, is entirely in the rumor stage.

A very pertinent factor in the Chinese situation, however, exists in the problem which faces the re-elected President of the United States. Mr. Truman must now decide whether to discontinue, carry on, or increase the material aid that the United States has been providing the Chinese government in its struggle to win the civil war. The decision can be a vital one to the Nationalist fortunes, perhaps more so than any course of action that they can take themselves. Mr. Truman's decision, moreover, will be made in the light of his knowledge of world affairs and the state of the East-West struggle. Much more than victory in China, important as that is, may be at stake.

DANGEROUS PROCEDURE

IN THE COMMUNITY OF TRAIL THE City Council has formally decided to exclude the press from its Thursday meetings, which take the form of sessions in committee of the whole. The civic body justifies its action on the grounds that a recent meeting was inaccurately reported, and buttresses its stand with the assertion that by closing its doors councillors will have the opportunity "to let our hair down without having to watch our tongues."

It is not for us to tell the Trail council how it shall conduct its business. What we suggest in all charity, however, is that the city fathers consider the difficulties they are creating for themselves. Whenever a public body puts the lid on its discussions it invites suspicion, rightly or wrongly, and the creation of lack of confidence can be infinitely more damaging than an alleged minor error in reporting. It can, of course, present its decisions in a cut-and-dried form at an open meeting. But unless the public is informed of the debate, it loses the opportunity to weigh different opinion revealed by the interchange of ideas. And it would seem that elected representatives should be sufficiently mature to conduct their arguments without anxiety over the manner in which their tongues behave. If they cannot let their hair down without inviting trouble they should keep it pinned up.

Moreover, when a council forgets that its members are merely the representatives of the people—people who have the right to know what the councillors are thinking and doing—it is dwelling in a house of illusion from which it should be removed.

LIFE ON THE PRAIRIES

A RAID STAGED BY 80 MALE STUDENTS on the women students' residence at the University of Manitoba, during which the young ladies were dumped from their beds and sprinkled with confetti and feathers, was just a simple Halloween prank, according to the university president. Nobody would be expelled, he added, deploring exaggerated accounts that had got abroad. As a matter of fact, he said, the same thing happened last year. Ho hum! Just routine at the University of Manitoba, apparently.

Health Plan At Work

By EDWARD HODGKIN, from London.

SINCE JULY 5 LAST my weekly pay has been the lighter by 4/11 (80c), deducted at source, and representing my contribution to the scheme of social security which is being built up in Britain. Of this sum 8½d (14c) goes to help pay for the National Health Service on which most public attention has been focussed. I have heard a lot of stories about this service (which has become abbreviated like everything else these days and is now always called N.H.S.), some flattering, some the reverse. I have heard of elaborate operations performed free, and of examples of treatment held up by "red tape." It has been difficult to get an accurate picture of how in fact the N.H.S. was working after its first three months.

THE OTHER DAY I had a chance to talk this question over with a doctor who is in a good position to judge. He is an ordinary general practitioner, living in a semi-rural district about 20 miles from London, but he is also on the Council of the British Medical Association, which is the body that protects the interests of doctors. His considered opinion was that the N.H.S. was working well; not perfectly, of course, but a good deal better than might have been expected. About 90 per cent of the whole population have joined the scheme. That is to say, they have chosen their doctor and been accepted by him for his list, and as practically all the doctors have by now joined, there has not been that war between member and non-member doctors which, six months ago, looked quite possible.

I ASKED THE DOCTOR whether he found he had much more work under the new scheme. He said that his surgery was certainly more crowded, but that of course he had fewer visits to make outside. A doctor will still visit his registered patients if they are too ill to come to see him, or if they choose to remain private patients and go on paying the old fees. But if you are registered under the N.H.S. you are expected, if you are well enough, to come along to the surgery and wait your turn. He said that as far as he could see, people were not wasting their own and the doctors' time by making unnecessary visits, just for the sake of getting something for nothing. But he was glad to notice that parents were bringing their children along to the doctor more often, instead of doctoring them at home, as was quite often the case in the past when saving a visit to the doctor meant saving five shillings (1.00) or more.

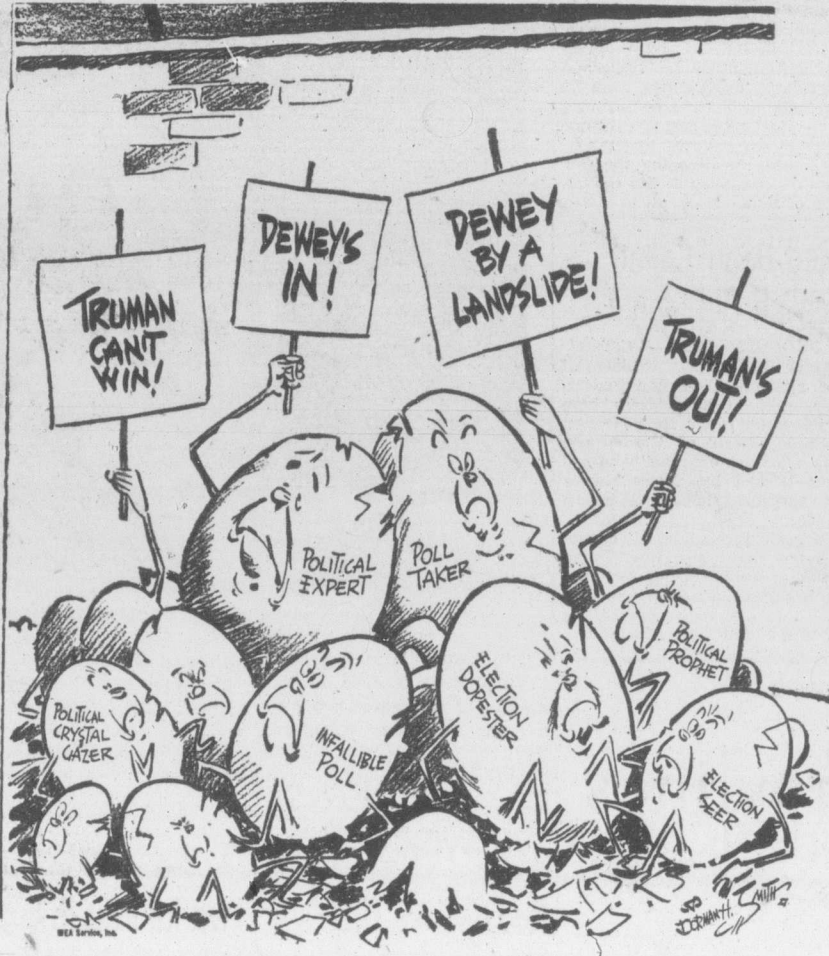

HIS MAIN CRITICISM of the new scheme was that he thought the fees paid by the government to the doctors would probably turn out to be too small. The basis of payment is what is called the capitation fee; this is the fixed sum to be paid each year to the doctor for each name on his book. The fee will probably work out at about 17 shillings (3.40) for each name, and this would be ample if doctors could reckon on getting nearly the maximum number of names allowed (which is 4,000), but his experience was that most of the doctors in his district could only expect to get about half the maximum number of patients. When the health centres (which are going to be places where surgery, equipment, consulting rooms, secretarial assistance and so on are provided for groups of doctors in one area) get going, the individual doctor's overhead will be cut down. But at present it is still high.

ON THE OTHER HAND, this doctor thought that the administrative side of the new scheme was working better than the old National Health Insurance (usually known as "the panel"), though he agreed that specialists and hospitals were still uncertain of their position. On the whole, though, his verdict after three months' experience was favorable. "The new Health Service is going to work all right," he said. "But it's still being run in, like a new car. Soon it will be time to give it a check-up, but I don't think that when we do we shall find so much that needs altering."

THIS BEING the beginning of the season when doctors and patients start worrying about the common cold, I was interested to see what one member of Parliament has been asking about the results achieved by a body called the Common Cold Research Unit. The title of this body is self-explanatory, but its history is more romantic. In 1940 the American Red Cross and Harvard University made a gift to Britain of a hospital. This was shipped across the Atlantic in sections and erected at Salisbury, in southern England. It is known now as the Harvard Hospital. In May, 1946, the Ministry of Health and the Medical Research Council began there a systematic investigation of the cause and cure of the common cold. Volunteers were called for to come and catch colds, and the supply of human guinea-pigs has continued ever since, many of them university students, but including men and women from every walk of life and even honeymoon couples.

THE LATEST BULLETIN which was given to Parliament on the investigation said that no very dramatic results have been achieved yet, though something about the type of virus which causes colds has been established. Apparently the object (if you can call anything so minute an object) which causes all the trouble is one ten-thousandth of a millimetre in length—about the size of the influenza virus, and it remains active even at a temperature as low as 70 degrees Centigrade. It is hoped that some day the team of doctors working at Salisbury will succeed in growing the virus, and that would be the main step towards finding how to deal with it. Meantime, we must all expect our winter sneezes, and unfortunately we do not have the satisfaction of thinking that our colds make any contribution to science.

Goodness, What A Lot Of Humpty-Dumpties!

Comparing Two Ways Of Life

By JOSEPH LISTER RUTLEDGE

THOSE groups of people who dislike our present system of government delight in assuming that the real dangers of communism infiltration spring from what they assume to be the injustices and inequalities and failures of our system.

FRANK APPRAISAL

This is to say that, compared with the communist states, we are doing rather badly by our people. Let us be frank. We can still turn up plenty of faults, political, social and economic. We offer no complete and immediate paradise on earth.

Conceding that, we still contend that no non-democratic government, whatever it may call itself, has anything to offer us but backward steps to less freedom both physical and spiritual, less consideration both political and social, and less present benefit for every individual citizen.

If had economic conditions were indeed responsible for the spread of the communist ideology, why should it spread, not at the low ebb of our economic life but at a time when the general standard of living has reached an all-time high?

We readily admit that housing conditions, as an instance, do present some problems. But, with that, we remember that 57 per cent of all the families in Canada own their own homes, and that there are more homes in Canada than there are families.

AUSTERITY?

We remember that almost every second home owns a car; that three-quarters of them have at least one radio. Forty per cent of them are served by telephones. Half of them have refrigeration and one in every four an electrical vacuum cleaner. This is the austerity our system has imposed.

Now what about the home of communism? Even before the Nazi invasion had done its work,

Russia could boast only one family in every seventeen that occupied more than one room. There are no statistics regarding the equipment of these lodgings. There are, however, comparable costs of living based on the work effort involved in providing the essentials of life.

A bar of soap or a pack of cigarettes costs the Soviet worker two hours' work. A woman's woolen dress means a month of effort, a man's suit, two months. In every single instance our needs, reckoned in work hours cost us one-tenth as much.

TEN TO ONE

The way to combat communism surely is not by blinding ourselves to essential truth. In all material things our advantage is ten to one. Let us not stop there. But at least let us recognize that our democratic way has given us this, plus security, plus freedom, plus the captaincy of our own souls.

The Function Of Universities

From the Ottawa Journal

WE READ in the Calgary Herald that the Alberta Real Estate Association has suggested that the University of Alberta include a course in real estate in its curriculum.

In this proposal, it is said, is to have vendors of real estate raised to the status of a professional society incorporated and regulated by law. To acquire membership, the prospective dealer would have to possess a degree in real estate.

FALSE NOTION

Here is one further example of a great current misconception: The false notion that a university is a technical or vocational training school, its task to train men in various trades or professions.

A university is not that at all; and if we insist on making our universities that—we have gone some distance in such direction already—we shall destroy their true function.

A university, in essence, is, or should be, a school of liberal arts, devoted to cultural subjects only, its aim not to train men in any particular vocation or profession, but to train their minds—not merely to educate them, but to give them as well understanding of what the ends of education should be.

It is true that most of our universities offer degrees in pure science and in applied science, that most of them have their schools of medicine and engineering. That does not alter the general proposition that universities cannot be made more and more into vocational training schools without grave danger to their future, and to ours.

There is too much misunderstanding of this; too much of a tendency to confuse vocational training with education—too much advance in overloading the curriculums of our universities with things that have no place in the curriculum of a university. One result already is an overcrowding of universities, threatening them with the danger of becoming merely production lines, educating no one at all.

GROWING NEED

No one should be against vocational training; in our world there is growing need for the specialist. But greater even than the need for the specialist is the need for the educated, liberal, balanced mind, and if we as a nation are to neglect that mind then ultimately we must be lost. The fate of Germany was an example of what can come to a nation where everybody is trained and nobody educated.

Is This Tax-Dodging?

From The Printed Word

UNDER SECTION 17 of the Income Tax Act, when a corporation redeems any of its shares at a premium, the premium is deemed to be income of the recipient in the taxation year in which it is received.

IN CONFLICT

This, or a similar section, has been part of the income tax law for many years, although it has been in direct conflict with the accepted Canadian principle that capital gains are not a proper source of taxation. It has not worried many investors, because, when a company calls its preferred shares for redemption at, say, 110, the price of such shares on the open market usually rises to 109 and a fraction before the date of redemption.

Certain institutions, not being subject to the same income tax law as individuals, can buy the shares at slightly below the premium price and take their profit without tax penalty.

Thus all the individual holder of the called shares has to do is to accept the slightly lower market price. If he bought the shares at par and sells at 109, he has a non-taxable capital gain of nine dollars a share, while if he turns the shares in for redemption at 110, he may have to hand over a large part of his ten-dollar gain to the government.

AVOIDS TAX

Selling on the market, he avoids tax liability, the purchaser gets a small but certain profit, the brokers collect their commissions. Everyone is happy except the bounds of the Income Tax Department, who are left to gnash their baffled teeth at the gap in the wall.

Now comes the puzzle. If any transaction can be almost certainly proved to have been negotiated with the purpose of avoiding taxation, it is an open-market sale of stock such as this. Now Section 126 of the act permits any transaction, legal or illegal, if it constitutes, in their opinion, "improper" avoidance or reduction of taxes that might otherwise have become payable.

Is the Treasury Board now going to look into the thousands of such transactions that must have taken place in the past two decades and penalize the improper avoidance? Or will it decide that the avoidance was not improper?

IMPROPER AVOIDANCE

And if the avoidance was clearly the main purpose of such transactions, can the Treasury Board hope to convince a fair-minded judge that other transactions, for which the motives are mixed, had as one of their main purposes improper avoidance or reduction of taxation?

(Editors Note: This column is presented as an indication of American opinion on major world events.)

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press News Analyst

EVER SINCE the founding of the United States the term "alliance" has been abhorrent to the average American because it has been accepted generally as connoting a military treaty and so as being an instrument of war.

However, it strikes me there will be a feeling of relief at the word from Washington that President Truman is expected to order the state department within a few days to go ahead with negotiations for a military alliance treaty with western Europe.

The Atlantic, which shielded American isolation, now has shrunk to the size of a millpond. As a matter of regrettable hindsight there is the realization that an alliance between the United States and the western European powers most likely would have prevented both world wars.

PREPAREDNESS

Twice Germany struck through vulnerable little Belgium because Berlin gambled on the fact that the United States wasn't bound by alliance to resist this aggression.

Now a project is actively under way to form an alliance which will join the United States and Canada to the countries of west Europe, using the recently-formed western European union as a nucleus. This union comprises Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. It is expected that several other countries will be included, among them Iceland and Portugal.

NOT JUST ECONOMIC

The project contemplates not only helping these countries get on their feet economically through the Marshall Plan, but a program of military assistance.

As a matter of fact the United States already has the military aid program under way. Reliable sources in Frankfurt, Germany, state that the United States has armed three French divisions with $5,000,000 worth of military equipment.

This projected alliance is in no sense an invitation to combat. It is purely defensive.

Such an alliance is the safest insurance the western powers could have against aggression. The cold war will continue, for Moscow never will cease in its world revolution for the spread of Communism until it can force it to quit.

CAT OVERBOARD

BBC London Letter

Holidaymakers, boating in Morecambe Bay in Lancashire, came across a black cat, swimming well, four miles out from land. They scooped it up into the boat; fed it when they got back to shore, and it is none the worse, having apparently not even lost one of its nine lives.

SURE DESTRUCTION

Winnipeg Free Press

Only within a free association of free people can the diverse interests of the Commonwealth nations be reconciled. Only in unity with them can it find sufficient strength to protect itself. Only in the fullest economic co-operation with them can it prosper. Only in a free world allied for defence and joint prosperity can the Commonwealth go forward.

Hence any man or party which proposes to hive the Commonwealth off from the world, militarily, politically or economically, is proposing the surest means of its destruction.

WAITING TIME

Ottawa Journal

Occasionally November offers a bright, sunny day when the atmosphere is peculiarly brilliant and one can clearly see the blue-green mountains far across the valley. Once in a while there's a bright starry night when one can study Orion, Cassiopeia and Taurus. The stars seem so low that one feels he could reach up with a long pole and stir them around. But most of the time the eleventh month is a harbinger of the season to come. For this is the dark waiting time, an interlude while Winter marshals its forces on the northern horizon and prepares for a major assault. Waiting time is almost over. Nature's pulse is slow. The covering is on the way and the Long Sleep begins.

Truman Victory Aids Liberals, Hurts Opposition In Canada

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD
Victoria Times Correspondent
OTTAWA — Despite careful avoidance of any partisan comment, Liberal cabinet ministers derived political satisfaction from the Truman presidential victory. The reason is simple. The Canadian and United States electorates have sufficient similarity to have enabled them to build up a tradition of frequently similar reactions. Evidence of unrest in the one is often the forerunner of a manifestation of unrest in the other. And vice versa.

SILENCES OPPOSITION
Hence the omen of good portent for the reigning Liberal administration which the Truman victory constitutes. At the very least it prevents Opposition speakers from contending that political unrest is on the march on the American continent and that governments with a long legacy of office behind them are doomed.

There is another aspect of the Truman win upon which the Liberal regime can capitalize legitimately. If a new government had got into the saddle in Washington, it might have been argued that a new Canadian administration, less steeped in the democratic tradition of Roosevelt-Truman diplomacy, would be able to conduct relationships with Washington more effectively.

That argument cannot now be put forward. But in its place the Liberals can contend reasonably that there should be no disturbance of the international machinery endorsed now in the United States—which has produced the Marshall plan, elaborate policies of joint continental defence, and which is drafting the master plan of world democracy for a western security pact.

Actually, in the realm of foreign policy prior to the election, the Liberal government here saw little reason to choose between the Democrats and the Republicans. Both were pledged to carry out the Marshall plan and the Western Security Pact.

In the realm of policies of special bearing upon the Canadian economy, the situation, however, is somewhat different. Two such policies have been forging steadily to the front in interest in recent times, although neither of them has yet taken the spotlight officially. One is the St. Lawrence River power and navigation project. The other is unrestricted reciprocity with the neighboring Republic.

At a special week-end meeting, the committee called on all sections of the labor movement and all "progressive" people to protest use of film censorship for the "suppression of peace documents" and as an instrument of "war mongering."

It asked that the Attorney-General exercise his authority to overrule the censor and Board of Review and immediately release the movie for showing.

The film was banned last week by B.C. censors, who said it was "purely Russian propaganda."

British Industrial Workers To See How It Is Done In U.S.

LONDON (AP)—Hundreds of British industrial workers will visit the United States soon to observe how things are done in American factories.

They hope Americans will return the call.

Plans for the U.S. tour by teams of British factory workers, both men and women, were announced by the Anglo-American Committee on Productivity.

The committee, composed of 13 British and eight U.S. industrialists and trade unionists, has been studying British factory practices for several weeks.

It was set up at the suggestion of Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, who hoped that U.S. experts might give tips for increasing British industrial efficiency.

The American experts said at a press conference that inspection of many factories had impressed them with the fact the British worker is expected to do his job with far less mechanical aid than his U.S. counterpart.

British factories on the whole use less power, and the British worker must make up the difference with his muscle, the observers found.

An American factory, they said, may use double the electric power consumed by a factory of equal size in Britain.

U.S. production per man, they reported, is generally higher, possibly because engines do more of the work.

The American observers were impressed by the British workman's industry.

"From what I have seen," said Victor Reuther, American trade union member of the committee, "the tempo of the workers here is certainly as fast as anything that is customary in the United States."

Britons have the "know how," said Reed, but it is unevenly spread.

One factory, the Americans remarked, may operate with the utmost efficiency, while another plant in the same industry may be antiquated.

There is need for modern tools, Americans said, and they added that there is room to increase efficiency by reorganizing many plants.

Lost Manuscripts Shed New Light On Samuel Johnson

NEW YORK (AP)—Long-lost manuscripts shedding new light on two great figures on English literature, Samuel Johnson and James Boswell, have been gathered into a single collection, Col. Ralph Isham announced Sunday.

So rich is the information, declared Herman Liebert of Yale University, that a new edition will be required of Boswell's "The Life of Samuel Johnson."

"But 50 scholars working for 50 years could not exhaust the material Col. Isham has acquired," said Liebert.

The first mass of letters, journals and notes that Boswell accumulated was found shortly after the First World War in Malahide Castle, Ireland, during search for a croquet set. The second came to light in Fettercairn House in 1931 and the third in an outbuilding of Malahide Castle in 1940.

Litigation over the last two sections has at last been settled and all the papers assembled by Col. Isham, a wealthy collector, who declined to reveal the price he paid for them.

Their literary and historical importance lies in the fact that when Boswell wrote the "Life" he suppressed much good material in the interests of good taste.

"Put all this together and we have one of the greatest collections in the world," says Dr. James Clifford of Columbia, an authority on 18th-century literature. "This throws light on all the age. It is an overwhelming find."

Film Council Plans Festival Next Year

Appreciation of the fine support given its first annual festival held last Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the Greater Victoria Film Council has already decided to go ahead with plans for a similar exhibition next year.

This was announced Saturday evening by W. H. Wilson, president, following the final showing of the festival.

He noted the capacity attendance of about 100 persons at the National Film Board's screening room, 1217 Wharf Street, at the evening showings each day and said that people came back after seeing the high quality and the variety of films shown.

The two afternoon showings, at 2 and 4, had fair attendance, but not so many turned out for the 6 o'clock reels, Mr. Wilson continued.

Feature of Saturday's program was a special 45-minute reel at 4 in the afternoon only, entitled "100 Years of Baseball."

The films were shown through the co-operation of Ernest Belton, National Film Board representative.

Poppy Day Proceeds

The Canadian Legion's Poppy Day, held in the city Saturday with volunteers giving out poppies to contributors, netted a total of $3,650, Remembrance Day committee officials announced Saturday night.

Thanks of the Canadian Legion were expressed by committee members following the sale. They said it was gratifying to see the way the public and those who assisted with the distributing of the poppies helped the worthy cause.

In Bitter Weather London Remembers Dead Of Two Wars

LONDON (CP)—On the wettest Remembrance Day within memory, solemn Britons assembled in flag-draped Whitehall Sunday and observed two minutes of silence commemorating the dead of the two World Wars.

The crowds, reduced by driving rain and a strong, cold wind, was estimated at less than 5,000, the smallest in many years.

The flags of the Commonwealth, draping the weather-beaten stone Cenotaph, stirred stiffly in the wind as the King, in the uniform of an admiral of the fleet and wearing a greatcoat, placed a wreath of Flanders poppies.

All around him, motionless in the downpour, stood Guardsmen in grey greatcoats and bearskins, detachments of the Royal Navy in blue, the Royal Marines with their distinctive red-banded caps, the R.A.F., the women's branches of the armed forces, the merchant navy and Britain's fishing fleets. Nearby were Prime Minister Attlee and Winston Churchill, wartime Prime Minister, bareheaded, with war medals adorning their greatcoats, and members of the Royal Family.

Course Of Cost Of Living For Rest Of Year Watched

By CANADIAN PRESS

The official cost-of-living index is losing some of its upward momentum, but no one in responsible quarters will predict when it might come to a full halt and roll into a downward trend.

Now in its 21st month of a steady, record-breaking rise, the index slackened its pace during September by advancing only seven-tenths of a point between Sept. 1 and Oct. 1—from 158.9 to 159.6—but even this may not indicate the beginning of a long awaited recession.

The Bureau of Statistics calculates the index, on the basis that living costs in 1935-39 equalled 100.

EYES ON OCTOBER

There is a possibility that the October reading—it will come in early December since the bureau reports always are a month behind—may show a recession. This might follow in view of the break which occurred in meat prices during October.

However, another rise for November and December already is in the making. Unless outbalanced by other factors, it could result from the 5 and 10 per cent boosts which the government is allowing in rentals.

But, on the long-range view, it is hard to find a prediction as to what might happen beyond the year-end.

Right now, the world has more grain available than at any time in nearly 20 years, even though the world population has increased. Good crops have been reported in the United States and Canada as well as other countries and the possibilities of surplus stocks already have brought a decline in U.S. commodity prices.

Experts on economics agree that the effect should spread from food to other commodities. Normally, it would bring a tapering off at about the current level and then produce a down-trend.

But, countering this theory, is the question of rearmament. A growing steel shortage is developing on this continent, due mainly to the U.S. government orders for weapons, and it may bring with it still higher prices for both capital equipment and manufactured consumer goods.

MARKETS SATURDAY

Stocks rallied on the New York exchange, moved ahead fractions to a point; cotton dipped 50 cents a bale. Little effect on demand was noted in two-cent boost in price of lead. Demand surged forward. Prices slumped on Chicago Grain Exchange, but at Winnipeg trading was fair. The United Kingdom was allocated 800,000 bushels of wheat under the Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement.

Campbell Named Manitoba's Premier By Coalition Govt.

WINNIPEG (CP)—A caucus of coalition members of the Manitoba Legislature early Sunday chose Douglas Lloyd Campbell, 58-year-old farmer and provincial Minister of Agriculture since 1936, as the next Premier of the Coalition government.

The caucus also announced that Works Minister E. F. Willis—provincial leader of the Progressive Conservative Party—will be designated deputy premier, and that a cabinet consisting of eight Liberal Progressives and four Progressive Conservatives will be formed.

Mr. Campbell will be sworn in as Premier when Premier Stuart Garson resigns to contest the bye-election in the federal constituency of Marquette, Dec. 20. It is expected Mr. Garson will resign within a few days.

The announcement that Mr. Garson had agreed to "associate himself" with the Liberal Party in the federal field, made Friday by Acting Prime Minister St. Laurent, was confirmed by the Premier in a Coalition caucus which began the same day.

The Coalition government was formed under the leadership of Premier John Bracken in 1940. The C.C.F. participated until 1942, when it broke away at the time Mr. Bracken took over the leadership of the Progressive Conservative Party.

Liberals hold a majority in the Coalition, with 26 members to 14 Progressive Conservatives and two Social Crediters. In opposition in the 55-seat Legislature are 10 C.C.F. and three other members.

It had been rumored that the Conservatives' insistence upon greater representation in the cabinet had proved the major difficulty in the way of selection of a new premier.

TO RESHUFFLE PORTFOLIOS

The announcement that another member would be added to the cabinet was taken to mean that a reshuffling of portfolios was in the offing.

Mr. Garson, as well as being Premier, is Provincial Treasurer and Minister of Dominion-Provincial Relations, and Mr. McDiarmid is Minister of Industry and Commerce and Railway Commissioner as well as being in charge of Mines and Natural Resources.

A redistribution of some "top-heavy" portfolios is expected.

Crash Of Train, Auto Orphans 3 Children

BRANDON, Man. (CP)—A father and mother were killed and three children injured in a car-train crash here Sunday night. Killed were Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Herbert Short of Brandon. Injured were their children, Adele, 13; Marjorie, 10, and Sidney, three, all in serious condition.

Their automobile struck a train being run over a transfer track connecting the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railway lines. Impact carried the car more than 40 feet.

Train-Car Crash Kills 2 In B.C.

CRANBROOK (CP)—Two men were killed early Sunday when an eastbound passenger train struck a truck stalled at a crossing two miles east of here.

The dead: Arthur McMahon, 29, and William Jolliffe, 52, both of nearby Fort Steele. The driver, Alex McMahon, had attempted to flag down the train, but had no light.

About a month ago five people were killed in a crossing accident at nearby Creston.

Flax crop in Lincolnshire averaged 47 hundredweights an acre in 1948—17 hundredweights more than last year.

Vancouver Shares Interest In Charming Colwood Wedding

St. John the Baptist Church, Colwood, was the scene of a wedding of interest here and in the mainland, when Miss Dorothy Jean Marr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Hillis Marr, Capilano Highlands, Vancouver, became the bride of Harold Lloyd Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hamilton, 406 Simcoe Street, early Saturday evening.

Rev. H. J. Jones performed the double ring service.

Delicately toned egg-shell velvet, styled on mid-Victorian lines, was worn by the bride, given in marriage by her father.

The slender skirt front was draped to back fullness, creating bustle detailing enriched with ropes of seed pearls; the softly shirred bodice with square neckline featured a pearl-trimmed cowl, and the lily point sleeves were also beaded. She wore her mother's veil, fashioned from clouds of embroidered silk tulle, and completed her ensemble with an heirloom cameo. Full-blown pink roses caught with trailing pink streamers, composed her bouquet.

Sisters of the bride and groom, Misses Marian Marr and Muriel Hamilton were bridesmaids. Miss Marr, groomed in gold taffeta, the graceful skirt tiered and the bodice shirred, wore a coronet of lavender baby mums, and carried a loose Colonial bouquet of bronze and lavender mums. Miss Hamilton, whose full-skirted gown was of pale violet taffeta, featuring hip flounces, wore gold baby mums in her coronet head-dress and carried bronze and gold mums in a loose Colonial bouquet.

William L. Moor stood with the groom as best man. Alan Hickman was the usher.

At the home of the groom's parents, the bridal party stood before the fireplace, which was decorated with tapers and mauve and pink flowers, to receive guests. Toast to the bride was given by James P. Burbridge.

Silver cupids decorated the three-tier cake, flanked by pink tapers in silver holders.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton are spending their honeymoon at Forbidden Plateau and in Vancouver, and plan to make their home at Thetis Lake on return.

The bride donned a burgundy coat, over her traveling suit of grey gabardine styled with dress-maker jacket, and pencil slim skirt. Her accessories were in grey and burgundy and she wore an orchid corsage.

Now Mrs. G. Adams

Rev. William Allan heard the marriage vows of Miss Beverley Peden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peden, Victoria, and Gordon Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Adams, 3069 Washington Avenue, Saturday at 8 at Fairfield United Church.

Baskets of autumn-toned chrysanthemums formed the floral setting.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of gleaming satin; the high net yoke was embellished at the neckline, and the full skirt, slightly en train, was gathered to the lowered waistline. A full-length veil of misty net was held to the bride's fair hair, and she carried a bouquet of scarlet roses and white carnations. Her only ornament was a pearl necklace.

The bride chose for her attendant, the groom's sister, Miss Olive Adams. She wore a gown of pink gossamer net, with floral headpiece to match and carried pink carnations and mauve chrysanthemums in her bouquet.

John Cornish was best man and ushers were Michael Clarke and Claude Peden.

During the signing of the register, Miss J. Thompson sang "Because."

A reception followed at Loughheed's Banquet Club. The triple-tiered cake was topped with a dainty bride and groom in miniature. White candles and vases of flowers decorated the table. Receiving guests with the newlyweds were Mrs. Adams, mother of the groom, and Mrs. B. Peden, the bride's grandmother. Toast was given by M. McCutcheon.

The bride changed to a pink and soft grey frock with grey accessories and a small pink feathered hat for the wedding trip.

Following their honeymoon on the mainland, Mr. and Mrs. Adams will make their home at 1510 Belcher Avenue.

Wife's Intuition Prevents Tragedy

VANCOUVER (CP)—A pretty, 24-year-old British war wife, who had a "premonition" something wasn't right, saved her husband and two small children from possible death Sunday when gas fumes filled her Burnaby home for three hours.

Awakened by the cries of her 17-month-old son John, Mrs. A. R. Gracewood took the infant from his crib to the bathroom, where he lost consciousness. After rousing her husband, she opened the windows of their four-room house and ran outside with baby John and three-year-old Michael, who also was unconscious.

Her husband, a 28-year-old air force veteran, called the fire department inhalator squad, which worked for more than an hour on the two children before reviving them.

"I lived through the blitz," said Mr. Gracewood, "but never have I spent a more ghastly morning."

The mishap was blamed on a leaking gas pipe.

Killing Of Husband By Scots War Wife Found Manslaughter

LINDSAY, Ont. (CP)—Jean McAllister, 25, was convicted Saturday of manslaughter in the pistol-slashing last Sept. 5 of her naval veteran husband, 29-year-old John McAllister of Hamilton. The original charge was murder. The assize jury brought in the lesser finding.

The jury submitted a strong recommendation for mercy. Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven agreed with the jury's verdict that McAllister had offered strong provocation. He remanded her to Nov. 10 for sentence.

The red-headed Scottish war-

Greatly provoked...
JEAN McALLISTER

bride had testified McAllister beat her and called her "an old hag" and other abusive names, taunting her that, because of a recent operation, she could never bear children. She testified he told her he was going to "run around" with other women.

Mrs. McAllister, described by medical witnesses as "nervous and irritable" because of three recent operations, forced a 15-minute adjournment Saturday when she suddenly put both hands to her mouth and appeared to be about to faint. She was helped from the prisoners' box by a matron and court attendants and became violently ill.

GREATLY PROVOKED

Defence Counsel H. E. Richardson told the jury Jean McAllister was provoked by her husband and that "she didn't mean to kill him."

Mrs. McAllister had testified that on the night of the shooting her husband cursed her and used obscene language. He refused to tell her where he had spent the earlier part of the day and had said that the following day, his day off, he intended to spend drinking beer in nearby Cobocok. She gave a confused account of the events that followed. She said she remembered seeing the target pistol hanging on the wall in its holster. The last she recalled of McAllister he was sitting on his bed. Then she remembered the dog barking as she ran from the house.

Gossiping People Drive Mother Back To Scotland Home

LINDSAY, Ont. (CP)—What was described by friends as "small town gossip" drove Mrs. Emily McInerney home to Scotland before she heard the verdict of a jury which convicted her daughter, Mrs. Jane McAllister, 25, of manslaughter.

Mrs. McInerney left nearly $300, donated by district sympathizers, untouched in a bank here.

"Dinna talk tae me about money," a friend quoted her as saying. "All I want is ma hame. I canna help Jeannie now."

She was booked to fly from Montreal Sunday.

The little woman from Greenock was emotionally upset by the nervous strain of the week-long trial of her daughter, accused of shooting her husband, John McAllister. Mrs. McInerney was further distraught by news that her own husband was ill in Scotland.

Some of the war brides who rallied to help her and her daughter told her that her most private business was being discussed in shops, on the streets and in public meetings.

She told friends she was more than grateful for all that had been done for her, including the raising of $1,000 for a trust fund. But, everywhere she went, she was stared at and she felt that everywhere in this town residents were talking about her.

"Take me hame," she sobbed. "I canna stand it any longer."

Well-Attended Police Ball Again Popular Social Event

The 35th annual police ball sponsored by the Victoria City Police Mutual Benefit Association, proved one of the most outstanding events of the social season, when hundreds of Victorians and many out-of-town visitors gathered in the Crystal Ballroom at the Empress Hotel Friday evening.

The affair was held under the distinguished patronage of His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Charles A. Banks, Premier Byron Johnson and Mrs. Johnson, Mayor Percy E. George and Mrs. George and police commissioners James Neely and B. J. Gadsden with Mrs. Neely and Mrs. Gadsden.

Members of Victoria Girls' Pipe Band escorted Mayor George and Mrs. McLellan and Chief John McLellan and Mrs. George as they led the grand march. Mrs. McLellan chose for the occasion a classic gown in fuchsia, styled with cape sleeves and trimmed with silver sequins. A black lace gown was worn by Mrs. George.

A huge comical caricature depicting the hazards in the everyday life of a policeman was placed behind the orchestra dais and set a gay mood for the gala evening. Feminine dancers in their colorful evening frocks, in crepes, satins, chiffons, taffetas and velvets, made an attractive contrast to their partners in formal black and white attire.

An added attraction with the liting music of William Tickle's orchestra was popular songstress Miss Julia Heyes. Top hit-tunes included "It's Magic," "Buttons and Bows," "Underneath The Arches," "Fella With An Umbrella," "Love Somebody." Couples swayed to the dreamy "Anniversary Song," "Now Is the Hour," and "Kiss In the Dark." Dancing continued from 9 to 2. First and second suppers were served in the dining-room.

Sergt. Stanley T. Holmes, chairman and secretary of the association was largely responsible for the success of the affair, ably assisted by Sergt. Roy Woolsey as

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

CUT NOISE AT KNIFE FACTORY

Noise can interfere with work in any plant. That's why Johns-Manville was recently called in to install acoustics at a large silverware manufacturer's plant.

"Our job is a noisy one," the plant manager writes. "It used to be impossible to talk above the clang and clatter of the workrooms. Everyone complained. So we had Johns-Manville install Fibretone ceilings. Now, you should hear the difference! Comfort and efficiency have both greatly increased."

Fibretone is but one of many J-M Acoustical Materials which control sound and quiet noise in offices, hospitals, factories, restaurants, theatres, etc., all over the country. If you have a noise problem, let Johns-Manville solve it. Write for J-M Sound Control booklet—Johns-Manville, 1206 Homer St., Vancouver.

Quebec-Chicoutimi Superhighway Open; Four Years Building

QUEBEC (CP)—For the settlers of Quebec's wooded kingdom of the Saguenay, times are fabulous. In 10 years new industries, radio stations, cinemas, modern stores, new parishes and a new diocese have sprouted in the rock and timberland.

Last week a $20,000,000 superhighway that promises to make the land the gateway to rich northeastern Quebec was opened after four years' building. It cuts the travel time between Quebec and their "big city"—Chicoutimi—to a two-hour drive.

Old-timers agreed "la route" had put an end to the Saguenay's traditional handicap—poor communications.

For years the Saguenay region was colonization territory. Before a railway line linked Quebec and Chicoutimi at the turn of the century, it was more than a day's trip by ship.

Twenty-five years ago when Chicoutimi's population was 8,987, a rough, bouncing 200-mile road was cut through. Later a slightly better road reduced the distance to 150 miles from Quebec City.

The war and hydro expansion at Shipshaw in 1942-43 started the present boom.

Chicoutimi's population, 16,000 in 1941, soared. The same was true of the nearby aluminum town of Arvida.

In 1944, the Quebec government launched the road project.

Crusade In Europe... By Dwight D. Eisenhower

Was Heavyhearted When Ordered To Washington Desk

This is a condensed serialization of Dwight D. Eisenhower's "Crusade in Europe." It contains highlights of the book to be published Nov. 22, 1948, by Doubleday & Company, Inc.

In the Allied headquarters at Reims, Field Marshal Jodl signed the instrument of German surrender on May 7, 1945. At midnight of the next day there ended, in Europe, a conflict that had been raging since Sept. 1, 1939.

Between these two dates millions of Europeans had been killed. All Europe west of the Rhine had, with minor exceptions, lived for more than four years under the domination of an occupying army. Free institutions and free speech had disappeared. Economies were broken and industry prostrated.

In Germany itself, after years of seeming invincibility, a carpet of destruction and desolation had spread over the land. Her bridges were down, her cities in ruins and her great industrial capacity practically paralyzed.

Great Britain had exhausted herself economically and financially to carry on her part of the war; the nation was almost entirely mobilized, with everybody of useful age, men and women alike, either in the armed forces or engaged in some type of production for war.

Russian industry west of the Volga had been almost obliterated.

United States had not been spared: by V-J Day in the Pacific, 322,188 of her youth had been lost in battle or had died in the service and approximately 700,000 more had been wounded. The nation had poured forth resources in unstinted measure not only to support her own armies and navies and air forces but also to give her allies equipment and weapons with which to operate effectively against the common enemy.

Each of the Allies had, according to its means, contributed to the common cause but America had stood pre-eminent as the arsenal of democracy. We were the nation which, from the war's beginning to its end, had achieved the greatest transformation from almost complete military weakness to astounding strength and effectiveness.

U.S. Defences Pitifully Inadequate

EUROPE HAD BEEN at war for a full year before America became alarmed over its pitifully inadequate defenses. When the nation began, in 1939, first steps toward strengthening its military establishment, it started from a position as close to zero as a great nation could conceivably have allowed itself to sink.

Thereafter, in the space of three and a half years, the United States produced the fighting machine that played an indispensable role in beating Germany to its knees, even while our country, almost single-handed, was conducting a decisive war against the Japanese Empire.

The revolutionary transformation of America was not achieved overnight; the fact that it was ever achieved at all was due to the existence of staunch allies and our own distance from the scene of combat. At the outset none of us could foresee the end of the struggle; few of us saw eye to eye on what was demanded of us as individuals and as a nation; but each began, step by step, to learn and to perform his allotted task.

America's transformation, in three years, from a situation of appalling danger to unparalleled might in battle was one of the two miracles that brought Jodl to our headquarters to surrender on May 7, 1945. The other was the development, over the same period, of near perfection in allied conduct of war operations.

History testifies to the ineptitude of coalitions in waging war. Allied failures have been so numerous and their inexcusable blunders so common that professional soldiers had long discounted the possibility of effective allied action unless resources were so great as to assure victory by inundation. Even Napoleon's reputation as a brilliant military leader suffered when students in staff colleges came to realize that he always fought against coalitions—and therefore against divided counsels and diverse political, economic, and military interests.

There was no precedent to follow, no chart by which to steer. Where nations previously had been successful in concert against a common foe, one member of the coalition had usually been so strong as to be the dominating partner. Now it was necessary to produce effective unity out of concessions voluntarily made.

Differences Pale, Achievement Miracle

THE TRUE HISTORY of the war, and more especially the history of the operations Torch and Overlord, in the Mediterranean and northwest Europe, is the story of a unity produced on the basis of this voluntary co-operation. Differences there were, differences among strong men representing strong and proud peoples, but these melted into insignificance alongside the miracle of achievement represented in the shoulder-to-shoulder march of the Allies to complete victory in the West.

On the day the war began, in 1939, I was in the Philippines, nearing completion of four years' duty as senior military assistant to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who had been charged with building and training an independent Filipino military establishment.

When my wife, my son John, and I left Manila in December, Gen. MacArthur saw us off at the pier. It was the last time I was to see him until my postwar visit, as Chief of Staff, to his Tokyo headquarters. We talked of the gloominess of world prospects, but our forebodings turned toward Europe—not Asia.

In June, 1941, I was assigned to Lt. Gen. Walter Krueger's Third Army as his chief of staff at San Antonio headquarters. His Third Army was directed to concentrate in Louisiana for a great maneuver, with Lt. Gen. Ben Lear's Second Army as its opponent. Not one of our officers on the active list had commanded a unit as large as a division in the First World War. Like a vast laboratory experiment, the manoeuvres would prove the worth of ideas, men, weapons, and equipment. More than 270,000 men—the largest army ever gathered in the United States for a single tactical operation—were assembled by Gen. Krueger that September. Moving out of Second Army camps at the same time were another 130,000.

During this time I had my first important introduction to the press camera, which, since the days of Brady, has been a prominent feature of the American military scene. In the fall of 1941, however, flash bulbs were a fairly novel element in my daily life and I was only an unknown face to the men who used them. During the critique at Camp Polk a group shot was made of Gen. Krueger, Maj. E. M. Bolden, a British military observer, and me; in the caption my two companions were correctly identified, but I appeared as "Lt. Col. D. D. Eisenhower"—at least the initials were right.

At the end of the manoeuvres I was promoted to the temporary grade of brigadier-general.

Tenseness Relaxed In Army As Well

ALTHOUGH THE Washington negotiations with the Japanese ambassadors were nearing their dramatic climax at the beginning of December, a relaxation of tenseness among the civilian population was reflected within the Army. It seemed that the Japanese bluff had been called and war, at least temporarily, averted in the Pacific.

On the Russian front the Germans had been stopped before Leningrad, Moscow, and Sevastopol. My daily paper, on Dec. 4, editorialized that it was now evident the Japanese had no desire for war with the United States. A columnist a few days later reported that in Washington there was a strong feeling that the crisis in the Pacific had been postponed, although a week earlier betting odds in Washington circles had been 10 to 1 on immediate war.

On the afternoon of Dec. 7 at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, tired out from the long and exhausting staff work of the manoeuvres and their aftermath, I went to bed with orders that under no circumstances was I to be disturbed. My dreams were of a two weeks' leave I was going to take, during which my wife and I were going to West Point to spend Christmas with our plebe son, John. But even dreams like this—and my strict orders—could be shattered with impunity by the aide who brought the news that we were at war.

Within an hour of the Pearl Harbor attack orders began pouring into Third Army Headquarters from the War Department. There were orders for the immediate transfer of anti-aircraft units to the West Coast, where the terrified citizens hourly detected phantom bombers in the sky; orders for the establishment of anti-sabotage measures; orders for careful guarding of industrial plants; orders for reconnaissance along our southern border to prevent the entrance of spies; and orders to insure the safety of ports along the Gulf of Mexico.

There were orders for rushing heavy bodies of troops to the west in anticipation of any attacks the Japanese might contemplate. In turn Gen. Krueger's headquarters had to send out instructions to a hundred stations as rapidly as they could be prepared and checked. It was a period of intense activity.

Immediacy of movement was the keynote. The normal channels of administration were abandoned; the chain of command was compressed at meetings where all echelons got their instructions in a single briefing; the slow and methodical process of drawing up detailed movement orders that specified to the last job of equipment what should be taken with the troops, how it should be crated and marked, was ignored.

A single telephone call would start an infantry unit across the continent; troops and equipment entrained with nothing in writing to show by what authority they moved. Guns were loaded on flatcars, if flatcars were available; on gondolas if they could be had; in freight cars if nothing else was at hand. The men traveled in de luxe Pullmans, in troop sleepers, in modern coaches, and in day cars that had been obsolete and sidetracked in the yards for a generation and were now drafted for emergency troop movements.

'Is That You Ike?' Bedell Smith Asks

I HAD FIVE DAYS of this. Early in the morning of Dec. 12 the telephone connecting us directly to the War Department in Washington began to jangle. I answered and someone inquired, "Is that you, Ike?"

"Yes."

"The Chief says for you to hop a plane and get up here right away. Tell your boss that formal orders will come through later."

The "Chief" was Gen. Marshall, and the man at the other end of the line was Col. Walter Bedell

As Germany Surrenders Unconditionally

REIMS, France—Representatives of the German government (left side of table) and of the Allied governments (right), as they meet in the war room of Supreme Allied Headquarters in the now-famous Reims Industrial School May 7, 1945, to sign the document in which Germany surrendered unconditionally to the Allies. Seated, fourth from rear (right side of table), is Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, Chief of Staff to Gen. Eisenhower, holding papers to be signed by Germans. In the center on left side is Col. Gen. Gustav Jodl, Chief of Staff, German Army, who signed for the Germans. On his left is Gen. Adm. Hans Georg Friedberg, on his right, Maj. Wilhelm Oxeinius, his aide.

Smith, who was later to become my close friend and chief of staff throughout the European operations.

This message was a hard blow. During the First World War every one of my frantic efforts to get to the scene of action had been defeated—for reasons which had no validity to me except that they all boiled down to "War Department orders." I hoped in any new war to stay with troops. Being ordered to a city where I had already served a total of eight years would mean, I thought, a virtual repetition of my experience in World War I. Heavyhearted, I telephoned my wife to pack a bag, and within the hour I was headed for the War Department.

Marshall's Presence Brought Efficiency

WASHINGTON IN wartime has been variously described in numbers of pungent epigrams, all signifying chaos. Traditionally the government, including the service departments, has always been as unprepared for problems as the country itself; and the incidence of emergency has, under an awakened sense of overwhelming responsibility, resulted in confusion, intensified by a swarming influx of contract writers and well-meaning volunteers.

This time, however, the War Department had achieved a gratifying level of efficiency before the outbreak of war. So far as my own observations during the months I served there would justify a judgment, this was due to the vision and determination of one man, Gen. Marshall. Naturally he had support. He was backed up by the President and by many of our ablest leaders in Congress and in key positions in the Administration. But it would have been easy for Gen. Marshall, during 1940-41, to drift along with the current, to let things slide in anticipation of a normal end to a brilliant military career—for he had earned, throughout the professional Army, a reputation for brilliance.

Instead he had for many months deliberately followed the hard way, determined that at whatever cost to himself or to any one else the army should be decently prepared for the conflict which he daily, almost hourly, expected.

I reported to Gen. Marshall early on Sunday morning, Dec. 14, and for the first time in my life talked to him for more than two minutes at a time. It was the fourth time I had ever seen him. Without preamble or waste of time the Chief of Staff outlined the general situation, naval and military, in the western Pacific.

Gen. Marshall took perhaps twenty minutes to describe all this and then abruptly asked, "What should be our general line of action?"

I thought a second and, hoping I was showing a poker face, answered, "Give me a few hours."

"All right," he said, and I was dismissed.

Significantly and characteristically, he did not even hint at one of the most important factors in the problem: the psychological effects of the Philippine battle upon people in the United States and throughout the Pacific. Clearly he felt that any one stupid enough to overlook this consideration had no business wearing the star of a brigadier-general.

I took my problem to a desk assigned me in the division of the War Department then known as "War Plans," headed by my old friend Brig. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow. Obviously, if I were to be of any service to Gen. Marshall in the War Department, I would have to earn his confidence; the logic of this, my first answer, would have to be unimpeachable, and the answer would have to be prompt.

For three years, soon after the First World War, I served under one of the most accomplished soldiers of our time, Maj. Gen. Fox Conner. One of the subjects on which he talked to me most was allied command, its difficulties and its problems. Another was George C. Marshall.

Again and again Gen. Conner said to me, "We cannot escape another great war. When we go into that war it will be in company with allies. Systems of single command will have to be worked out. We must not accept the 'co-ordination' concept under which Foch was compelled to work. We must insist on individual and single responsibility—leaders will have to learn how to overcome nationalistic considerations in the conduct of campaigns. One man who can do it is Marshall—he is close to being a genius."

With that memory I determined that my answer should be short, emphatic, and based on reasoning in which I honestly believed. No oratory, plausible argument, or glittering generality would impress anyone entitled to be labeled genius by Fox Conner.

The question before me was almost unlimited in its implications, and my qualifications for approaching it were probably those of the average hard-working army officer of my age. Naturally I had pursued the military courses of the army's school system. Soon after completing the War College in 1928 I went to serve as a special assistant in the office of the Assistant Secretary of War, where my duties were quickly expanded to include confidential work for the Chief of Staff of the army.

The years devoted to work of this kind opened up to me an almost new world. During that time I met and worked with many people whose opinions I respected highly, in both military and civil life. Among these an outstanding figure was Bernard Baruch, for whom my admiration was and is profound. I still believe that if Mr. Baruch's recommendations for universal price fixing and his organizational plans had been completely and promptly adopted in December, 1941, the United States would have saved billions in money—possibly much in time and therefore in lives.

From tasks such as these I had gone, in 1935, to the Philippines. Now, six years later, I was back in the War Department, the nation was at war, and the Philippines were in deadly danger.

With bleak conclusions I marched back to the Chief of Staff.

"General," I said, "it will be a long time before major reinforcements can go to the Philippines, longer than the garrison can hold out with any dribble assistance, if the enemy commits major forces to their reduction. But we must do everything for them that is humanly possible. The people of China, of the Philippines, of the Dutch East Indies will be watching us. They may excuse failure but they will not excuse abandonment. Their trust and friendship are important to us. Our base must be Australia, and we must start at once to expand it and to secure our communications to it. In this last we dare not fail. We must take great risks and spend any amount of money required."

He merely replied, "I agree with you." His tone implied that I had been given the problem as a check to an answer he had already reached. He added, "Do your best to save them." With that I went to work.

Tempers Were Short; Ships Badly Needed

On my desk memorandum pad, which by accident survived, I find this note, made on Jan. 1, 1942: "I've been insisting that the Far East is critical—and no side-shows should be undertaken until air and ground there are in satisfactory state. Instead we are taking on Magnet, Gymnast, etc."

Three days later appeared: "At least we're getting some things on the road to Australia. The air plan includes four pursuit groups, and two heavy, two medium, and one light bombardment groups. But we've got to have ships—and we need them now! Tempers are short. There are lots of amateur strategists on the job. I'd give anything to be back in the field."

'Save Them' Marshall Tells 'Ike'

My obvious irritation was possibly caused by the knowledge that much time would elapse before the "air plan" could be implemented.

Fortunately for me, at this hectic time my youngest brother, Milton, and his wife, Helen, were living just outside Washington at Falls Church. During the weeks following my arrival in the War Department, until my wife could pack our belongings at San Antonio and re-establish a home in Washington, they insisted that their home be mine.

My brother was already in war work in the government and his hours were scarcely less exhausting than mine. Yet every night when I reached their house, regardless of the hour, which averaged something around midnight, both would be waiting up for me with a snack of midnight supper and a pot of coffee. I cannot remember ever seeing their house in daylight during all the months I served in Washington.

As early as December, 1941, we determined to try a system of blockade running into the Philippines. We sent officers to Australia with money to hire, at no matter what fantastic prices, the men and ships needed to carry supplies into the islands and to smuggle them into the beleaguered garrison.

Off To Australia To Organize Supplies

The man we sent to Australia to head up this particular effort was a former Secretary of War, Col. soon Brig. Gen., Patrick J. Hurley. He had reported to the Operations Division one noon to volunteer his services to the government. At that moment we were in search of a man of his known energy and fearlessness to invigorate our filibustering attempts out of Australia and his offer was immediately accepted.

I asked him, "When can you be ready to report for duty?"

"Now."

"Be back here at midnight," I instructed him, "prepared for extended field service."

Although he seemed to change color slightly, he never batted an eye but replied, "That will give me time to see my lawyers and change my will." At one o'clock that night he was on a plane for Australia.

Mr. Quezon, then in Corregidor with Gen. MacArthur, radioed to President Roosevelt in early February a plea for him to seek the neutralization of the Philippines, with each contestant agreement to withdraw its troops. In view of our helpless situation there at that time, neutralization of the islands would have been an immediate military advantage and would, of course, have prevented tremendous suffering and privation on the part of the defending garrison and the population.

However, its public proposal would not only have been greeted with scorn by the Japanese; such a confession of weakness would have had unfortunate psychological reverberations. None of us believed for a moment that the proposal represented a betrayal on the part of President Quezon.

We felt that he was studiously loyal but merely submitting for consideration a plan that, in his helpless situation, appeared to him as the possible salvation of his country. Receipt of the proposal was a bombshell—but the idea was instantly repudiated by the President and the Chief of Staff.

Churchill Arrives In Washington

In late December, Prime Minister Churchill came to Washington, accompanied by the British Chiefs of Staff. These were Admiral Sir Dudley Pound for the Navy, Gen. Sir Alan Brooke for the Army, and Air Chief Marshal Sir Charles Portal for the Air Force. At that time the old War Plans Division, under Gen. Gerow, was still in existence and most of the staff liaison work with the British group was carried on by him and other members of the staff.

The conference had two principal purposes, the first of which was to organize a workable system by which the American and British Chiefs of Staff could operate effectively as a team.

A second purpose of the conference was to confirm earlier agreements upon the region in which should first be concentrated major forces of the two nations. The staffs saw no reason to change prior conclusions that the European enemy should be the first object of our attacks.

As far as I know, the wisdom of the plan to turn the weight of our power against the European enemy before attempting an all-out campaign against Japan has never been questioned by any real student of strategy. However—and here was the rub—it was easy enough to state this purpose as a principle but it was to prove difficult indeed to develop a feasible plan to implement the idea and to secure its approval by the military staffs of two nations.

Within the War Department staff basic plans for European invasion began slowly to take shape during January and February, 1942. As always, time was the critical element in the problem. Yet everywhere delay was imposed upon us! It profited nothing to wait about unpreparedness. It is a characteristic of military problems that they yield to nothing but harsh reality; things must be reduced to elemental simplicity and answers must be clear, almost obvious.

Everywhere men and materials were needed. The wave of Japanese aggression had not then reached full tide, and everything upon which we in the United States could lay our hands had necessarily to go to the Southwest Pacific to prevent complete inundation. Aside from preserving lines of air and sea communications to Australia, we had to hold the Indian bastion at all costs; otherwise a junction between Japanese and German forces would be accomplished through the Persian Gulf. Prevention of this catastrophe became the chief preoccupation of our British partners.

We had to do the best we could, with almost nothing to distribute but deficits, in stemming the onslaughts of our enemies, but plans for victory had to look far ahead to the day when the airplanes, the battle fleets, the shipping, the landing craft, and the fighting formations would allow us to pass to the offensive and to maintain it. It was in this realm of the future—a future so uncertain as to be one almost of make-believe—that the projected plan for European invasion had to take its initial form.

Throughout the first winter of war the news from the East Indian region was increasingly bad and the Navy did not have sufficient strength to undertake major operations far from a friendly base. Every troop and cargo ship upon which we could lay our hands was dispatched hurriedly to the Southwest Pacific. But we had so little!

Ss. Queen Mary Aids; Depended On Speed

The transport of personnel without heavy equipment did not involve elaborate arrangements when fast ships were available. These vessels depended solely on their speed for safety against the submarine. The British gave us the use of some of the fastest, and largest passenger ships afloat. Among these was the Queen Mary.

One day we dispatched her, without escort, from an Eastern port in the United States to Australia, loaded with 14,000 American troops. It would have been only bad luck of the worst kind

Barbara Stanwyck In 'B.F.'s Daughter'

When Barbara Stanwyck first met writer Luther Davis for preliminary discussions on "B.F.'s Daughter," in which she is currently starring on the Atlas screen, and for which he wrote the screen play, she was so impressed by his youthful appearance that she promptly labeled him "Junior." Then the actress rounded up a baby's high chair for the set and brought in an oversized baby bottle. When Davis, who is 31 but looks 20, visited the set for the first time, Miss Stanwyck presented him with the gifts. From then on Davis became "Junior" to such members of the all-star cast as Van Heflin, Charles Coburn, Richard Hart and Keenan Wynn.

He is six feet tall, weighs 160 pounds, has light brown hair and blue eyes.

'Possessed,' Warner Drama, At York

"Possessed," a Warner Bros. film drama starring Joan Crawford and Van Heflin and featuring Raymond Massey and screen newcomer Geraldine Brooks in other important roles, heads the new bill opening today at the York Theatre.

A story by Rita Weiman supplied the material for the Silvia Richards-Ronald MacDougall screenplay which was directed by Curtis Bernhardt and produced for Warners by Jerry Wald.

'Valley Of Giants' On Plaza Screen

Much research went into the production of Warner Bros. sweeping drama, "Valley of the Giants," with Wayne Morris, which opens a special return showing today at the Plaza Theatre. For the story, taken from Peter B. Kyne's famous novel of the same name, considerable attention was given to details familiar in 1902, the year in which the drama is laid. Interesting facts uncovered were: the expression "skidoo," a choice bit of slang. The planola was popular and chewing gum and fountain pens were just coming in. Claire Trevor, Alan Hale, Frank McHugh, Donald Crisp and Charles Bickford carry other important assignments in the story.

ODEON THEATRE

"Tap Roots," Technicolor production co-starring Van Heflin and Susan Hayward, is currently at the Odeon Theatre. The film is a George Marshall production presented by Walter Wagner and released by Universal-International.

It is certain that theatre patrons will enjoy the sheer excitement, the turbulent romance and radiant color pageantry of "Tap Roots." Under Marshall's magic direction, all the gripping narrative and vivid ingredients of James Street's best-selling novel have been blended for the screen.

Eisenhower...

Crusade In Europe

If a submarine had... close enough to attack her successfully.

Moreover, we believed that even if one torpedo should strike her she would probably have enough remaining speed to escape from any submarine of the type then possessed by the Germans. However, such probabilities could provide no assurance that she would get through.

On that trip the Queen Mary had to put into a Brazilian port for fuel. We were horrified to intercept a radio from an Italian in Rio who reported her presence to the Italian Government and upon her departure actually gave the direction upon which she set out to sea.

For the next week we lived in terror, fearing that the Axis might be able to plant across her such a nest of submarines in the South Atlantic as to make it almost impossible for her to evade them completely.

I do not remember whether Gen. Marshall knew of this incident at the time, but it was the type of thing that we kept from him when possible. There was no use burdening his mind with the worries that we were forced to carry to bed with us. He had enough of his own.

The Operations Division of the War Department General Staff was set up in Washington in March, 1942, three months after Pearl Harbor. It was a command post for Gen. Marshall, from which he could direct American forces on all the fighting fronts. Gen. Eisenhower, promoted to a temporary major generality, was the first chief of this crucial division.

Tomorrow's installment of "Crusade in Europe" describes how the division was organized. It includes a summary of how Gen. Marshall picked his chief subordinates, and an outline of the great debate which was already shaping up among them on the best way to invade Hitler's "Festung Europa."

DOMINION THEATRE

Catherine McLeod has bruises to prove that the life of a movie start is not a "bed of roses." You will have to take her word for it—the bruises, that is.

During the filming of "That's My Man," the Frank Borzage produced picture, now showing at the Dominion Theatre, Miss McLeod was required to recline on a bed that would make DuBarry envious. It is an outside number, complete with canopy and quilted velvet spread. But after one week, it became for Miss McLeod much like the Hindu fakir's bed of nails. It seems that the set designers, more concerned with looks than comfort, had underlaid the lavish covering with bare boards. Result: the McLeod torso, reportedly, sustained a choice collection of contusions.

First Plane Makes Perfect Landing At Proposed Airpark

Proposed Memorial Airpark site at Gordon Head was given its first test Sunday when Frank C. Copley, director of the Victoria Flying Club, accompanied by Claude Butler, landed his light aircraft on the 67-acre property.

The aircraft, a Fleet Canuck, made a perfect landing on the landing strip amidst cheers from nearby residents.

Mr. Copley, a member of the Memorial Airpark Association, is one of the pioneers of the airpark project. Mr. Butler, also a member of the association, is president of the Saanich Chamber of Commerce.

The two men stepped out of the plane pleased with their landing and expressed the opinion that the site would make an ideal airfield for small and privately-owned aircraft.

Work on the airpark project began last February despite protests and objections of some Saanich residents who are opposed to the development of the project. The move to develop the park is still a subject of controversy and is expected to be taken to the courts.

So far only one landing strip has been developed. The work was entirely done by volunteers, who drained and levelled off the ground so that light aircraft could land or take-off from the property.

The association is meeting in Victoria for the first time in 22 years.

Olivier's 'Hamlet' Proves Film Of Epic Grandeur

By AUDREY S.T.D. JOHNSON

From whatever point of view it is regarded, whether by Shakespearean scholar, aesthete, or plain, average intelligent audience, Laurence Olivier's "Hamlet" turns out to be a film of epic grandeur. It has many moments as beautiful as any in cinematic history, some that transcend even these. It also has occasional weaknesses, most of which will disturb the complete Shakespearean before they will anyone else.

When all is said and done, Olivier's "Hamlet" carries a terrific emotional impact and if "the play's the thing," surely that is the essential purpose of the play.

The audience attending the special preview of the film at the Odeon Theatre Sunday night, was enthusiastic about this adaptation of Shakespeare's matchless tragedy.

SIMPLE IN COSTUME

Against a stark background of aloof stone and blank sea and sky, simple in all its detail of costume and mountings, the human destinies are played out in sharp relief. Olivier has made wonderfully effective use of parapsychic high above the pounding surf (where Hamlet ponders his "To be or not to be") of the armies and pillared vistas, the multiple levels formed by endless rock-hewn stairs.

The cutting of Shakespeare's text to fit a two-and-a-half-hour movie, while regrettable, was, of course, unavoidable; and, no doubt, everywhere the picture goes there will be argument as to whether what was cut might better have been left in than some that was not.

Ex-Chaplains Lead Remembrance Day Cathedral Service

Four ex-service chaplains representing the three services conducted the Service of Remembrance at Christ Church Cathedral Sunday.

The service was in charge of Rev. Frank Tomalin, rector of St. Alban's Church, and formerly an R.C.A.F. chaplain. Rev. William Hills, ex-navy, read the prayer; Rev. John Godkin, ex-R.C.A.F. read the lesson, and Rev. Douglas Kendall, formerly with the Canadian Army gave the address.

Premier Byron Johnson headed the list of Provincial Government and civic representatives present. Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.L.A. for the city, Arthur Ashe, M.L.A. for Saanich, acting-Mayor Ed Williams, Reeve R. A. Wootton of Oak Bay and Victoria City Council and Esquimalt and Saanich council members were also in the large congregation.

Bishop H. E. Sexton welcomed the government representatives and gave the blessing at the service. Later, he placed the colors, borne by members of the Canadian Legion, in the sanctuary.

The Great West Life Insurance Company of Victoria entertained its personnel with a banquet at Sooke Harbor House on Friday evening. Guests enjoyed games, music and dancing following the dinner. Miss Jean Richmond, who was a vocal soloist sang the ever popular "Make Believe," from Show Boat and "Thine Is My Heart Alone." Mrs. Florence Acreman acted as accompanist.

OLIVIER'S VIRTUOSITY

Olivier, as Hamlet, reaches heights of virtuosity, rare, even for him. He is the sweet prince who might have been debonaire and gay, but for this black thing; he is the uncertain human heart, the tortured mind and spirit in the body of a man whose nature was to live in peace and harmony. His graduation from bitter rage to filial yearning and tenderness in the closet scene, is brilliant, indeed. Yet, it is disturbing to climax such a scene by dragging dead Polonius from the queen's presence by the heels!

Eileen Herlie gives a truly magnificent, heart-rending performance as the queen, establishing herself as one of the foremost dramatic actresses on the screen. She does not, however, contrive to look a day older than her son.

The whole play is most expertly acted, down to the smallest "bit," and there are many beautiful touches in the production upon which one would like to comment if they had space. For instance, the final lingering of the camera, after his death, on Hamlet's chair, with the pathetic sprig of Rosemary still lying on the arm where Ophelia had laid it, and the subtle, unobtrusive movement of the court about the King and Queen.

One of the disappointing moments comes with Polonius' famous advice to Laertes which is muddled and confused by distracting by-play from Ophelia. Nevertheless, this is a vivid and memorable picture; one that proves again, that the cinema can be a medium of superior artistic expression.

"Hamlet" will open at the Odeon Theatre Monday, Nov. 15, for three days.

Five New Members For 25-Year Club

Directors of David Spencer Limited tendered their annual dinner, to the members of the firm's Twenty-five Year Club, an organization of staff members who have completed a quarter century or more service in the Victoria department store.

Five new members were among the 42 persons welcomed to the function by Miss Sara Spencer and J. V. Barnes. Miss Margaret Fairfull, who has the longest service record with the company, and skipper of the club, assisted.

John Spencer, son of Colonel Victor Spencer, also was among those present.

New members were: J. Roberts, O. Trickett, Miss W. Pettigrew, P. T. Hammond, and J. O. Griffiths. Each was presented on behalf of the firm's directors with a savings bond and a gold pin signifying membership. In addition, each new member in future will be entitled to one month's annual holiday.

Following the dinner, which was held in the store dining-room, moving pictures were shown, and games were played. J. O. Griffiths was master-of-ceremonies.

The club observed a period of silence in tribute to the memory of P. Burns, a club member who died during the past year.

Denies Assault

Bisa Singh, facing a charge of assault and occasioning bodily harm, denied that he struck Sylvia Irene Day, when the 20-year-old girl visited his Cloverdale home on the night of July 12.

The accused who was called to the witness stand today, told the Assize Court jury that both he, Miss Day and her four companions consumed a considerable amount of liquor at his home. He said when Miss Day's companions left the house to get something to eat, the woman began throwing things around and breaking furniture.

Slight Loss Foreseen In Value Of 1948 Agricultural Production

The value of British Columbia's agricultural production during 1948 was estimated by the provincial agriculture department today at $130,000,000—a slight loss from 1947.

The first provincial department to give production estimates for one of the province's four basic industries, the agriculture department blamed the loss on the Fraser Valley and other floods during May and June, a failure of the tree-fruit crop to size up during the late part of the season, and loss in field crops productions.

Officials of the agriculture department admit a tendency on their part to give conservative estimates. They said it was possible that when the final returns are in the crops may prove as valuable as those of 1947. The 1947 crop was estimated to be worth slightly more than $134,000,000.

The value of the apple crop this year was placed by the department officials at $12,964,000. This compares with an estimated value in 1947 of slightly more than $14,000,000.

The value of all crops of fruits was predicted at $24,500,000. Last year the fruit crops was valued at $25,703,000.

Earlier the department had predicted the apple crop this year would be bigger than last year, but many apple varieties, particularly the McIntosh Red, have graded small because of unfavorable weather conditions during the late part of the season.

Without giving figures, officials estimated the value of livestock production slightly higher than last year and the value of poultry production up slightly.

The production of field crops is believed to be down a little also.

Officials said that considering the floods and the long damp summer the value of agricultural production was high.

Preliminary hearing of Leo Allen, charged with breaking and entering the premises of 747 View Street, was set for Nov. 15 in city police court today by Magistrate H. C. Hall.

Calgary-Regina In Sudden-Death Playoff; Eastern Finalists Set

REGINA (CP)—Stranger things than football upsets have happened, so unless Calgary Stampedeers improve a lot in the second game of the Western Canada Football final they may not even get down east to represent the west in the Dominion final.

The Stampedeers have been forecast for weeks now as the club who'll be going to Toronto for the Nov. 27 Grey Cup game but Saskatchewan Roughriders Saturday indicated they're going to have plenty to say about it.

Before 6,000 Regina fans the Roughriders held the previously undefeated and untied Stampedeers to a 4 to 4 draw in the first of the two-game, total-point series for the western Canada crown.

The game left the two teams on even terms for the second match at Calgary Thursday. Had it not been for Stampedeers' Keith Spalth the game would have been won by Roughriders. He accounted for all four Calgary points on two rouses and two kicks to the deadline.

Gabe Patterson topped Ruffles' point-makers, his fourth quarter 20-yard field goal giving the home team the points needed to tie the game. In the third quarter Ken Charlton had kicked to Harry Hood for a rouse for Saskatchewan's first point.

ROWE PLUNGES WELL
Ruffles were held deep in their own territory throughout the first quarter with veteran Paul Rowe of Calgary and youthful Cedric Gyles, his teammate, pacing the attacking Stampedeers with smashing line plunges.

Fumbles by both, however, eased the pressure and the quarter ending with Spalth's first rouse accounting for the only Calgary point.

Stamps continued pressing in the second quarter, Spalth kicking to the deadline from the Regina 24 for the second Calgary point. But then Ruffles came back into the game with the first of their four successful passes—Calgary completed two—when Patterson took Cook's 44-yard toss to the 57-yard line. Patterson then picked up an additional 17 yards on two plunges with Sully Glasser. His attempted field goal was blocked.

RAIN OF FUMBLES
After Charlton kicked the Riders rouge in the third quarter Stampedeers came back to make it 3 to 1 when Spalth kicked another deadline point. The Stampedeers got within range when they recovered a Rider fumble on Regina's 30 and Rowe had plunged to the nine-yard line.

Spalth's final point came in the fourth from Riders' 40 after Cook fumbled the ball and fell on it. Regina then came back for their much-needed goal. There was a fumbled forward pass deep in Calgary territory when Normie Kwong was tackled hard. Riders recovered at the Calgary 27, Charlton and Patterson advancing the ball to the 16. Then Patterson's boot took over.

with 12 seconds left, Eric Chipper kicked a 35-yard field goal to give the Roughriders a 14 to 12 victory.

The University of Western Ontario set a Canadian record by racking up their 27th undefeated game, a 34 to 9 victory over McGill. In the other senior intercollegiate game, Bruce Cummings kicked the University of Toronto to a 4 to 0 win over Queen's.

Ottawa and Alouettes open their Big Four playoff round in Ottawa Thursday. The second game of the total-points series will be in Montreal Saturday.

Both counters went into the net after being deflected from a Westminster defenceman, Frank Ambler's solo effort in the second half accounted for the third tally.

SCOTS LOOK GOOD
With two former Vancouver City players in their line-up—Brian Philley and John Hall—St. Andrews forward line showed some punch for the first time this year. Philley scored two goals and distributed well while Hall, though held scoreless, was close on several tries.

Steele, from a penalty kick, and Stewart were responsible for other St. Andrews goals, while Jordan and Whittaker scored for Vancouver City.

The match was marked by rough play throughout. In the closing minutes Jackie Jones and Whittaker started a fracas with the former being sent off the field for his conduct.

Next match in the Coast League will be in Victoria Thursday when the United entertain New Westminster.

Dave Brown put the league-leading Reds well out in front with two tallies in the first half on passes from Trevor Harvey.

Clarkson's Goal Wins
Bernie Clarkson's goal in the opening minutes of the second half earned Victoria West their odd-goal triumph over Canadian Legion. The clubs put on a closely-fought exhibition with a number of good-scoring chances passing up by both sides. In an earlier match this season the clubs battled to draw. It marked the first victory for the green-shirts this season, although they had previously drawn two fixtures.

Only goal of the first half came when a penalty was whistled against Ray Oliver of the Legion for handling the ball. Jim McConaghy beat goalie Charlie Sadler with a low shot to the corner.

Brilliant Victory Gift In Bid For Horse Of The Year Honors

By JACK SULLIVAN

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's 1948 racing season ended at Dufferin Park here today, leaving three top-flight candidates for the title of "Canadian horse of the year"—Winnipeg-bred Victory Gift, Ontario-bred Canada's Teddy and Last Mark, King's Plate winner owned by Jim Fair of Cainsville, Ont. And each was a bargain-basement pick-up.

Award won't be decided on the track but "best-horse" discussion will probably add zip to annual arguments between loyal east and west sports fans.

In purse earnings for the season, Fair's colt has an edge of $170 with a $21,570 total against Victory Gift's $21,400. Canada's Teddy is a poor third with only $15,705.

But Teddy fans point to the four-year-old's won-and-lost column which shows nine firsts in 12 starts—he has an "also ran" in the others. Victory Gift came up with seven victories, three second places and an also ran in 11 starts, while Last Mark's record showed the bay colt with five firsts, three seconds and five times out of the money in 12 calls to the post.

THE RECORDS
Here are the highlights for each in the year's racing from Canadian tracks:

Canada's Teddy: Won the 43rd annual renewal of the Autumn Handicap at Toronto's Woodbine Park; the Canadian championship event at Long Branch, just outside Toronto, and the Breeders' Stakes, classed as the outstanding fall stakes for home-breds.

Last Mark: Won the 89th running of the historic King's Plate, finishing the 1½ mile event in 1:52 and breaking the old stake mark of 1:54 4/5 set by Uppermost in 1945. This victory alone, worth $16,000, gives him all-star rating.

Victory Gift: Won the $5,000-added Canadian Derby at Winnipeg, Sept. 5 with a 1½-length victory over R. J. Speers' Lord Fairmont which earlier in the season defeated the King's Plate winner. To prove it was no fluke, the Winnipeg horse followed a week later with a first in the $8,000 invitation Canadian three-year-old championship at Winnipeg—also Lord Fairmont was third.

Against Toronto the night before, certain victory was snatched from the Rangers with 54 seconds remaining. Trailing 3 to 2 with less than two minutes to go, Coach Hap Day pulled goalie Turk Broda and sent six men against Chuck Rayner. After two faceoffs in Ranger territory, Ted Kennedy pushed the puck home.

Rookie Clint Albright, Don Raleigh and Pentti Lund scored for Rangers with Harry Watson getting Toronto's other two goals.

Detroit Roars Back To Smother Boston

Beaten 2 to 0 by Montreal Canadiens Saturday night, Detroit Red Wings roared back Sunday to plaster Boston Bruins 7 to 3 and protect their first-place spot in the National Hockey League.

Montreal's win—Bill Durpan's third shutout this year—moved Canadiens into a second place tie with Boston, four points behind Detroit.

New York Rangers battled Toronto Maple Leafs to a 3 to 3 draw Saturday and then dropped a 4 to 2 decision to Chicago Black Hawks.

That game put Rangers and Black Hawks into a tie for the cellar position with four points each, three behind Toronto.

Seven men scored Detroit's seven goals as Red Wings finished their toughest week-end this year by polishing off Bruins.

Ted Lindsay, Jerry Couture, Jim McFadden, Pete Horeck, Bill Quackenbush, George Gee and Bud Poile got them.

Grant Warwick got two goals for Boston before being banished in the final period for fighting back at Gordon Howe.

Harry Lumley made 26 saves against Canadiens in the Saturday game, but it wasn't enough to stop big Butch Bouchard. Bouchard, who scored only four goals in all of last season, scored twice in less than a minute of the first period.

MOE INJURED
Bill Moe, just nicely recovered from the pre-season car accident that badly crippled the Rangers, was carried off the ice last night when Doug Bentley inadvertently broke his stick across Moe's mouth, loosening six teeth.

Bentley potted two goals as the Hawks got their second win this year, with Bill Moskienko and Gaye Stewart each getting one. Edgar Laprade got both of them for Rangers.

Against Toronto the night before, certain victory was snatched from the Rangers with 54 seconds remaining. ## College Takes Rugged Tussle From J.B.A.A.

With due respect to the younger members of the team, J.B.A.A.'s "15 old men" Saturday afternoon turned in one of the most stubborn defensive stands of the season as they dropped a 3 to 0 decision to Victoria College in a first division English rugby match at Macdonald Park.

The closeness of the score in no way represented a true indication of the trend of play and to even the most partial J.B.A.A. fan, unbeaten College was deserving of at least three more scores and possibly more.

Bays, shorthanded and using veteran players in key positions, were almost continually on the defensive and only got one real scoring opportunity in the match. Tom McKeachie missing a 30-yard penalty goal from a difficult angle in the second half.

The speedy students played like champions in midfield but never coordinated their attack when inside the Bays' 25-yard line and were stopped time and again by desperate Bay tackling and lost two first-half scores for infringement of the rules.

APPLY PRESSURE

The game was less than a minute old when the Students first applied pressure to the Bay defence with a lightning three-quarter movement. From then until just five minutes before the half Students knocked at the Bay goal line without success until Donald Alexander smashed over from about five yards out for the only score of the game.

J.B.A.A. did on occasions drive into College territory but never appeared dangerous. Fred Ranson, local Rep star, was probably the most useful player on the field for both teams as he contributed what many believe to be one of the best games of his career. Ranson was the Bays' main attack weapon and several times fooled College three-quarter movements with a sound defensive performance.

On the whole College was just too fast for the veteran Rowing Club unit and with a little more polish could have made the game a rout.

SECOND DIVISION

The J.B.A.A. second division team succeeded where their senior brethren failed as they downed a game but willing H.M.C.S. Naden fifteen, 17 to 3 on the lower pitch at Macdonald Park.

Bays spotted the sailors three points early in the game as they came from behind for the triumph. Harrison tied up the game with a penalty goal and minutes later put the eventual winners in front, 6 to 3 with another penalty. Russ Dempster's try made it 9 to 3 for Bays at the half.

In the other second division match at Royal Roads, Canadian Services College defeated Oak Bay Wanderers 8 to 3. Lyon and Longmuir scored for College with Tamowski adding a convert. Oison's penalty goal gave Oak Bay its only points.

Third division results saw Oak Bay trounce J.B.A.A. 26 to 0 at Windsor Park after leading 15 to 0 at the intermission.

Golds, Tiremen Register Wins In Minor Soccer Play

Saturday's matches in the Intermediate Football League saw the two leading clubs come up with victories. Victoria Golds edged Oak Bay 2 to 1 while Douglas Tire blasted Saanich Indians 8 to 1. Golds and Tiremen are tied for first place.

The two goals Golds scored against Oak Bay ended the shut-out streak of Bobby Sherratt at three games. The Bays went into a 1 to 0 lead on a goal by Frank Greeley. Golds tied the score on Denny McGee's counter from a penalty kick. Just before half-time Bill Cassie made it 2 to 1 for Golds to close out the scoring.

Douglas Tire had no trouble handling the Indians their fifth straight defeat. Goals by Eric Crawford, John Waterston and Hec Renton gave the winners a 3 to 0 first-half lead. In the final 45 minutes Roy Crawford added three goals and Verne Atkinson two. Roy Paul scored the lone counter for the Indians.

Wrestling Fans Charge Ring, Wield Chairs As Show Excites

If promoter Rocky Brooks had written the script himself he could not have come up with a better show than the wrestlers put on for close to 2,000 howling fans at the Armories Saturday night. For action, color and pleasing wrestling it was one of the finest cards ever promoted here and provided the sport with a rousing send-off to usher in the winter season.

Promoter Brooks was so pleased at the finish that he is seriously considering taking the boys to Duncan and Nainaimo for shows during the winter. The next card at the Armories will be offered Nov. 20.

After the two openings bouts had worked the crowd into fine fettle the four contenders in the tag team match brought down the house. Excitement ran so high at one time, that a fan was on the apron in the ring clamoring to take part in the proceeding.

Clark Plays Leading Role In Y Cage Win

Giving a razzle-dazzle display of ball handling and a deadly exhibition of basket sniping, Y.M.C.A. Saturday night rolled over a disorganized Eagles senior cage squad for a 69 to 38 victory at the High School gym.

Johnny Clark, who threatens to set a new scoring mark for senior basketball this season, had a field day at the expenses of the Aerie squad and pushed in 29 points for a new season's mark. Last week Clark counted 25 points against the Pro Patria for a 54-point total in the last two games.

It was the Y's fifth straight win of the season, without defeat, and gives the Reg Clarkson coached quintette a six-point lead over second place K.V.'s.

BIG LEAD

The game was virtually decided in the opening quarter when the "Y" broke on top and filtered through the Eagles' defence for a 23 to 4 lead. Eagles stopped the runaway race momentarily in the second period but their best was far from good enough and the half-time score saw the "Y" enjoying a 37 to 16 margin.

The second half was also a breeze for the defending league champions as they continued to pull away from their less experienced rivals.

Playing coach Reg Clarkson found time to depart from his regular duties to take runner-up scoring honors with 13 points while Rookie Wright picked up an even dozen.

Jim Ranson was as good as any player on the floor and along with Howard Tooby shared top honors for Eagles with seven points.

SPENCERS COME CLOSE

Spencers gave the strong Victoria College five a scare in the middle game on the card by leading the undefeated Students at half-time and the three-quarter mark. But a crisp rally in the first few minutes of the final period gave the collegians a safe lead which they held to the finish to win 45 to 42.

Elmer Mathews of Spencers took scoring laurels with 18 points. In the preliminary fixture Elks walloped a weak Mount Tolmie squad, 39 to 7, in a junior boys' tilt.

GAMES TONIGHT

Feature game on tonight's card at the High School gym has Brentwood Aces playing Mount Tolmie at 9 in a senior B men's fixture.

The program opens at 7 with Hepcats meeting Bomberettes in a junior girls' game. Allen's intermediate B boys' squad will play K.V.'s in the middle attraction at 8.

Teams and scorers follow: Y.M.C.A.—Clark 29, Clarkson 13, V. Clarkson 2, Wright 12, Dale 4, Mason 2, Chungrenes 7.
